Hearing Dec. 18 For Trooper In Bank Robbery

DETROIT (AP) — A $7,224-a-year state police trooper was arraigned in U. S. District Court Friday as the holdup man in a $3,145 bank robbery which superiors said he admitted staging on impulse.

Andy J. Salkovich, a trooper for seven years, made no attempt to enter a plea after District Attorney Lawrence Gubow told Judge Fred Kaess:

"I am not convinced he is fully aware of the circumstances or significance of the charge against him. In the interest of fair play, I suggest a delay of one month in examination and the appointment of an attorney to represent him."

Asked by the judge for his reaction, Salkovich replied: "I agree."

Examination was set for Dec. 18 and Salkovich's bond fixed at $25,000. George Woods, himself a former U. S. district attorney, was named to represent the 32-year-old defendant.

A rock which was thrown by a bank teller and which dented a getaway car's fender led to Salkovich's arrest six hours after Thursday's holdup of National Bank of Royal Oak in suburban Detroit.

'I Will Do My Best' Says President Johnson

WASHINGTON (AP) — Tall Texan Lyndon B. Johnson, saddened and solemn, entered his first full day as 36th President today and moved for national unity in America's time of tragedy.

Elevated to the awesome office by the assassin's gunfire that cut down John F. Kennedy, the former vice president, now 55, scheduled a late-morning conference with Dwight D. Eisenhower, the 34th president.

Also on Johnson's calling list was Secretary of State Dean Rusk, presumably for a talk on the manifold problems that confront the nation around the globe.

Meets With Cabinet

At midafternoon the new President was to meet with his Cabinet.

On arrival in Washington Friday night from Dallas, scene of the tragedy, Johnson had told the American people: "I will do my best. That is all I can do. I ask for your help, and God's."

Then he conferred with several Cabinet members and with congressional leaders of both parties. The word went out that these leaders had given him hearty assurances of bipartisan support.

Only a few hours before Johnson had taken the presidential oath in a jet plane standing on a Dallas runway, ready to depart for Washington. It was a heart-tugging ceremony witnessed by the newly widowed Jacqueline Kennedy, her clothing still stained from her husband's blood.

Johnson was riding two cars behind the President in the cavalcade through Dallas streets when the shots came from ambush, taking the life of the chief executive and wounding Gov. John B. Connally of Texas.

Woman Judge Gives Oath

A short time later in a crowded compartment of the presidential jet Johnson, his left hand on a small Bible and his right upraised, swore to "preserve, protect and defend the Constitution of the United States."

The oath was administered, at Johnson's request, by the first woman ever to perform that function, U.S. Dist. Court Judge Sarah T. Hughes of Dallas. She wept during the ceremony, which took place at 2:38 p.m.

At Johnson's right hand was his wife, Lady Bird, and on his left Mrs. Kennedy. Aides of Kennedy crowded the compartment, invited in by Johnson.

After the ceremony Johnson gave his first presidential order. "Now let's get airborne."

It was a scene of eerie tragedy as the big plane landed in the night at Andrews Air Force Base near Washington. Johnson and his wife waited inside the plane as the coffin, with Mrs. Kennedy standing at its head, was lowered in a great yellow cargo lift to a gray ambulance.

Big Job Ahead

Then Johnson, looking somewhat ashen-faced, came down the ramp, accompanied by Mrs. Johnson. She was clad in beige — nobody had had time to

Rest Home Fire Takes 60 Lives

NORWALK, Ohio (AP)—About 60 persons were trapped and killed in a fire today at a nursing home for the aged and infirm in Fitchville, the Ohio Highway Patrol reported.

A patrol spokesman said the blaze swept through the one-story concrete home in the pre-dawn hours. Eighty-four patients were reported residing at the home when the fire broke out.

Twenty-one patients and three nurses were safely accounted for at Fisher-Titus Hospital in Norwalk.

Fitchville is a community of about 200. It is 20 miles south-east of Norwalk, the Huron County seat.

Huron County Deputy Sheriff Jim Wade said the death toll would be "very close to 60."

No bodies had been removed from the still-smouldering building more than four hours later. Authorities feared many of the victims would be burned so severely as to make identification almost impossible.

The home is the Golden Age Nursing Home. Its patients are mostly elderly persons, but there are some who are mental and infirm patients of a young age.

E. H. Woods of Cleveland, who is head of Retirement Hotels, said he built the home

10 years ago, but sold it two years ago to Robert Pollock of Cleveland.

"That home was supposed to be fireproof," Woods said. "I can't understand how it happened. Everything is concrete block."

Woods said the home was for persons who were infirm and many were mental patients who had been discharged from state hospitals. He said the youngest patient was 38 and there were some as old as 100.

A fire in Atlantic City, N.J., Monday took the lives of 25 derly guests in the frame, Surfside Hotel.

Mother Is Held In Knife Slaying Of Stepdaughter

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—Mrs. Erzebet Wittner, 39, was bound to Superior Court Friday after examination on a charge of murder in the Oct. 22 knife slaying of her stepdaughter, Beatrice, 7.

Police said Mrs. Wittner tried to take her own life by slashing her throat after her husband, Bela, discovered the girl's body.

Johnson Bounces Back From 1955 Heart Attack

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson suffered a severe heart attack in 1955 but bounced back with barely a sign of his brush with death.

His attack came while he was exhausted from his duties as Senate majority leader during the Republican administration of Dwight D. Eisenhower.

In the campaign of 1960 Johnson was asked about his health and replied his physicians thought it was "too good. They say I feel too good and do too much and work too long."

Texas Governor Will Survive Sniper's Bullet

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Gov. John B. Connally was reported in satisfactory condition today after undergoing surgery for a bullet wound in his chest.

Connally was shot as he sat in the same open car as President Kennedy Friday in a motorcade through Dallas. A sniper's bullet killed Kennedy.

Connally underwent surgery for more than one hour. After awakening, he asked: "How's Nellie?" referring to his wife. He then asked: "How are the kids?" and went back to sleep.

Dr. Robert Shaw, his attending physician, described the governor as "mentally alert, his condition satisfactory and stable."

"I do not anticipate his getting worse," Shaw said.

Shaw said Connally had not been told of Kennedy's death.

Mrs. Connally, looking tired from the ordeal, was kept from visitors and newsmen. Only close relatives visited Mrs. Connally. Her oldest son, John B. III, 16, came from Austin to be with her. The other children, Sharon, 13, and Mark, 10, stayed in Austin.

Secret Service agents talked briefly with Mrs. Connally in an attempt to reconstruct the crime.

Shaw said the bullet apparently struck Connally in the back, went through his chest into his wrist and embedded in his thigh.

The bullet broke part of a rib into fragments and caused considerable tissue damage, Shaw said.

Connally will be in the hospital 10 to 14 days.

Connally served as the first secretary of Navy after Kennedy became President. He resigned the office in 1961 to run for governor of Texas.

Shaw said he expects Connally to have no disability from the gunshot wound and that he should recover completely.

Requiem Mass Set For Noon At Cathedral

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy's funeral will be held Monday at St. Matthews Roman Catholic Cathedral, the White House announced Friday night.

The body of the slain President will lie in repose at the White House on Saturday and will lie in state in the rotunda of the Capitol on Sunday and Monday.

The President's body will be taken a couple of miles to the cathedral at 11 a.m. Monday. There, Richard Cardinal Cushing, archbishop of Boston and close friend of the Kennedy family, will celebrate a Pontifical Requiem Mass at noon.

Acting White House press secretary Andrew T. Hatcher said he did not know where Kennedy would be buried. There has been one report, still unconfirmed, that burial would be in the family plot in Brookline, Mass.

Open To Public Sunday

The President's body will be moved from the White House in an official cortege to the Capitol rotunda at 1:00 p.m. Sunday. This ceremony will be attended by members of the Kennedy family, government leaders, Supreme Court justices, members of Congress and foreign diplomats.

The public will be permitted to file past the bier shortly after its arrival until 9 p.m. Sunday and from 9 until 10 a.m. Monday, the White House said.

Kennedy's body will lie in repose in the East Room of the White House from 10 a.m. until 6 p.m. Saturday. The White House said Kennedy's immediate family will be present then from 10 to 11 a.m.

President Johnson, House Speaker John W. McCormack, D-Mass., and Earl Warren, chief justice of the United States, are scheduled to arrive between 11 a.m. and 2 p.m. Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower will be present at that time, the White House said.

Officials Arrive

Former President Herbert Hoover expressed regret that he would be unable to attend. Former President Harry S. Truman is planning to arrive in Washington on Sunday.

Members of the Cabinet, executive branch officials appointed by Kennedy, and close personal friends of the President also are scheduled to arrive at the White House between 11 a.m. and 2 p.m.

Associate justices of the Supreme Court and members of the federal judiciary are to be present from 2 to 2:30 p.m.

Lone Suspect Arrogant, Denies Dallas Killing

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — A young man who once tried to renounce his country is charged with firing the two bullets that killed President Kennedy.

"No, I didn't kill the President," Lee Harvey Oswald, 24, said after he was charged Friday night with murder in the President's assassination.

Oswald swore allegiance to the Soviet Union four years ago and tried to renounce his American citizenship. He said he is now a member of "Fair Play for Cuba." Police termed him arrogant.

President Kennedy died 30 minutes after the assassin's bullets crashed into his neck and head as he neared the end of a triumphal motorcade Friday.

No One Else

A third bullet wounded Texas Gov. John Connally. His condition was reported not critical.

Dist. Atty. Henry Wade of Dallas was asked if authorities were looking for anyone else in connection with the world-stunning murder.

"There is no one else but him," Wade said.

Taken before microphones and cameras early today, Oswald managed an occasional smile as he insisted in a low voice that he was innocent of Kennedy's death.

Wade was asked if he regarded Oswald as Communist - inspired or "just a nut."

He replied: "Well put it this way. I don't think he is a nut. I think he is sane."

Clear Trail Traced

Kennedy and Connally had been riding side by side in the presidential limousine, their wives sitting just ahead of them.

The key factor that led to Oswald's arrest at 2 p.m. Friday — an hour after the President's death — was the apparently senseless killing of a Dallas policeman.

Authorities said a clear trail led to Oswald and he was charged earlier with murder in the death of the officer.

If the massive manhunt for the 46-year-old president's assassin was ended, the investigation by city police and agents of the FBI and Secret Service continued.

Wade said the case could come to trial within three weeks, or could be delayed for as long as two months.

A trail of strange circumstances led authorities to bear down on Oswald as the prime suspect in the killing.

Oswald worked in a textbook warehouse which police pinpointed as the place from which a high - powered rifle with a telescope sight was aimed at the head of the chief executive as he drove past in his open limousine.

Was In Building

Police said Oswald was in the building at the time.

—Within 45 minutes after Friday's assassination, and almost at the moment Kennedy's heartbeat stopped, a policeman who tried to pick up Oswald as a suspicious person four miles from the warehouse was shot to death.

Police said the bullet that killed the officer came from a pistol fired by Oswald, who was charged with murder.

—Mrs. Oswald, mother of a 2-month-old child, was quoted by Wade as reporting her husband had in his possession as recently as Thursday night a rifle matching in description the one used by the assassin.

—The personal history of Oswald was in character with the misfit backgrounds of past presidential assassins, who were lunatics, anarchists or political fanatics of one kind or another.

Police said that Oswald during questioning, was arrogant and defiant. They promised him a night's sleep in the city jail before grilling him anew.

Wade told newsmen that Dallas authorities had no prior cause to take note of his activities.

Personal Shock, Says Ex-Governor Mennen Williams

DETROIT (AP) — Former Gov. G. Mennen Williams, one of the late President Kennedy's earliest backers for the White House, said Friday the President's death "is a personal shock and loss to me as it is to multitudes in our country and around the world."

Williams, who was in Detroit following the funeral of his mother, told newsmen that "no man in recent times so affected the lives and aspirations of our country and the world."

Kennedy had named Williams assistant Secretary of State for African Affairs after his election in 1960. Williams was among the key supporters of then-Senator John F. Kennedy when he campaigned for the Democratic nomination.

Williams said President Lyndon Johnson "will have the support and prayers of every American."

Telegram Sent To Mrs. Kennedy By Gov. Romney

LANSING (AP)—Gov. George Romney Friday night sent telegrams to President Lyndon Johnson and Mrs. John F. Kennedy.

In the message to Johnson, Romney said: "You can be certain of my wholehearted support during this critical time and my personal guidance as you assume your staggering burden."

In the second message, which was signed also by his wife, Romney said:

"With the peoples of the world and our nation, all of us in Michigan weep with you."

Bars To Close During Funeral

Hearing Dec. 18 For Trooper In Bank Robbery

DETROIT (AP) — A $7,224-a-year state police trooper was arraigned in U. S. District Court Friday as the holdup man in a $3,145 bank robbery which superiors said he admitted staging on impulse.

Andy J. Salkovich, a trooper for seven years, made no attempt to enter a plea after District Attorney Lawrence Gubow told Judge Fred Kaess:

"I am not convinced he is fully aware of the circumstances or significance of the charge against him. In the interest of fair play, I suggest a delay of one month in examination and the appointment of an attorney to represent him."

Asked by the judge for his reaction, Salkovich replied: "I agree."

Examination was set for Dec. 18 and Salkovich's bond fixed at $25,000. George Woods, himself a former U. S. district attorney, was named to represent the 32-year-old defendant.

Winter Weather Hits Michigan

By The Associated Press

Winter weather roared into Michigan today. Winds of up to 40 miles an hour dumped as much as three inches of snow on the northwest corner of the Lower Peninsula and an inch or more in parts of Upper Michigan.

The Highway Department said that from one-half to three inches of snow fell in Alger, Grand Traverse, Antrim and Kalkaska counties.

Snow squalls hit parts of Schoolcraft, Delta, Chippewa and Luce counties, where the department measured an inch of snow.

The snow slicked roads in many spots, but department crews had all roads clear this morning.

State police reported parts of Lake, Osceola and Mecosta counties went without power for about an hour Friday night, as high winds knocked down lines.

Authorities said a clear trail led to Oswald and he was charged earlier with murder in the death of the officer.

If the massive manhunt for the 46-year-old president's assassin was ended, the investigation by city police and agents of the FBI and Secret Service continued.

Wade said the case could come to trial within three weeks, or could be delayed for as long as two months.

A trail of strange circumstances led authorities to bear down on Oswald as the prime suspect in the killing:

— Oswald worked in a textbook warehouse which police pinpointed as the place from which a high-powered rifle with a telescope sight was aimed at the head of the chief executive as he drove past in his open limousine.

Was In Building

Police said Oswald was in the building at the time.

—Within 45 minutes after Friday's assassination, and almost at the moment Kennedy's heartbeats stopped, a policeman who tried to pick up Oswald as a suspicious person four miles from the warehouse was shot to death.

Police said the bullet that killed the officer came from a pistol fired by Oswald, who was charged with murder.

—Mrs. Oswald, mother of a 2-month-old child, was quoted by Wade as reporting her husband had in his possession as recently as Thursday night a rifle matching in description the one used by the assassin.

—The personal history of Oswald was in character with the misfit backgrounds of past presidential assassins, who were lunatics, anarchists or political fanatics of one kind or another.

Police said that Oswald during questioning, was arrogant and defiant. They promised him a night's sleep in the city jail before grilling him anew.

Wade told newsmen that Dallas authorities had no prior cause to take note of his activities.

Personal Shock, Says Ex-Governor Mennen Williams

DETROIT (AP) — Former Gov. G. Mennen Williams, one of the late President Kennedy's earliest backers for the White House, said Friday the President's death "is a personal shock and loss to me as it is to multitudes in our country and around the world."

Williams, who was in Detroit following the funeral of his mother, told newsmen that "no man in recent times so affected the lives and aspirations of our country and the world."

Kennedy had named Williams assistant Secretary of State for African Affairs after his election in 1960. Williams was among the key supporters of then-Senator John F. Kennedy when he campaigned for the Democratic nomination.

Williams said President Lyndon Johnson "will have the support and prayers of every American."

Telegram Sent To Mrs. Kennedy By Gov. Romney

LANSING (AP) — Gov. George Romney Friday night sent telegrams to President Lyndon Johnson and Mrs. John F. Kennedy.

In the message to Johnson, Romney said:

"You can be certain of my wholehearted support during this critical time and my personal guidance as you assume your staggering burden."

In the second message, which was signed also by his wife, Romney said:

"With the peoples of the world and our nation, all of us in Michigan weep with you."

Bars To Close During Funeral

LANSING (AP) — Derwood L. Root, president of the Michigan Licensed Beverage Association, which represents some 8,000 bar and tavern licensees in the state, said Friday he will recommend all members close their places the time of the President's funeral.

Civil Defense For 6 Counties Conference Topic

Civil Defense and civic leaders of six counties will gather in Escanaba for one day, Friday, Dec. 6 to confer on the public needs of Civil Defense and to hear the official government presentation of its recommendations.

The conference will start at the House of Ludington at 9 a. m. with registration for the invited conferees from Delta, Menominee, Schoolcraft, Alger, Dickinson and Marquette counties.

Mayor Harold Vanlerberghe and Wesley Hansen, chairman of the Civil Defense Committee of the Delta County Board of Supervisors are co-chairmen of the conference, which will be welcomed by Charles Sedenquist of Wells, chairman of the county board.

Presentations by Governor George Romney and Stuart Pittman, assistant secretary of defense, will be presented on film.

Dr. Leon Weaver, Michigan State University professor, will keynote the program with an address on "Why Civil Defense?" explaining the purposes of the conference. An explanation of nuclear weapons systems, their capabilities, their limitations and what countermeasures can be taken to protect civilian populations from their threat will follow.

After a morning coffee break Russell Jenkins of MSU will lead a discussion, Dr. Weaver will speak on Civil Defense in the Upper Peninsula and Richard Nicolen, deputy state director of Civil Defense will outline the responsibilities of the various levels of government in Civil Defense and what each can do.

Richard Rinehart, president of Bay de Noc Community College will be the luncheon speaker on U. P. participation in the Civil Defense program.

Follow-Up Unit For TB X-Rays Here Dec. 9-13

The Michigan Department of Health Mobile Follow-up Unit will again be in Delta County, Dec. 9. This unit differs from the units that were in the Upper Peninsula in October, in that large and small X-rays will be taken. Because it takes more time to take the larger films fewer films can be taken each day.

Those qualifying for these X-rays (to be taken free of charge) are: ex-tuberculosis patients and their families; school children who have had a positive tuberculin skin test; persons having abnormal X-rays in the October X-ray screening; foodhandlers; teachers who missed out on the last Mobile Unit; anyone who has their physician's referral for this service.

If you qualify, do not let this opportunity go by. Call or write the Health Department, County Building, Escanaba, telephone 786-4111 for further information. Menominee County residents can also come if they qualify. They can get further information from either the Escanaba or Menominee office of the Health Department.

Fire Damages Farley Home

GARDEN—A fire of undetermined origin destroyed a shed and badly damaged the home of Leo Farley early Thursday night. Draft Calls 18 From Delta Eighteen Delta County young men will leave for induction and 22 for pre-induction on Dec. 4, it was announced today by Miss Mary Wagner, clerk of the local draft board.

Because of the size of the groups they have been divided into two classes, one that will travel by charter bus and the second by regular bus.

Miss Wagner said that six of the inductees and the 22 pre-inductees will report to the draft board office at 1 p. m., on Dec. 4 and that they will leave by charter bus for Milwaukee. The inductees will be forwarded to their reception center and after a short period of training will be offered Christmas leave.

The inductees include: John O. Romin of Rte. 1, Escanaba, leader of the group; Thomas L. Ruler, Bark River; Eugene R. Hansen, Rock; Stanley M. Hahn, Bark River; Dennis V. Cashin, Escanaba and Norman M. Sopina of Bark River (transferred to Milwaukee).

Pre-inductees leaving with the above group will include: John C. Bissell, Escanaba, leader of the group; John B. Krogdahl, Escanaba (transferred to Milwaukee); Donald L. Anderson, Stonington; Dale F. Stewart, Escanaba (transferred to Kenosha, Wis.); Rockford L. Blixt, Escanaba; Marvin Nelson, Cornell; David B. McPherson, Gladstone; Richard L. Schaut, Escanaba (transferred to Detroit); Laurence G. Kosow, Gladstone; William D. Cameron, Escanaba (transferred to Pasco, Wash.); Gary P. Randall, Gladstone; Gerald G. Way, Cornell (transferred to Milwaukee); Samuel C. LaCombe, Escanaba; Verne L. Nelson, Rapid River; Edward F. Johnson, Rapid River; John F. Horgan, Rock (transferred to Evanston, Ill.); Harold J. Levesque, Escanaba (transferred to Milwaukee); Craig A. Petersen, Escanaba; Leon D. Clausen, Rapid River; Roger J. Mayrand, Bark River; Ronald J. Schram, Gladstone and John M. Hagman, also of Gladstone.

Miss Wagner said that 12 of the inductees will report to the Draft Board office at 8:15 a. m., on Dec. 4 for roll call. Following this they will board a regular bus for Milwaukee to be inducted on Dec. 5. After a short period of training they will be offered Christmas leave. The 12 include: Thomas G. Greis, Escanaba, leader of the group; John R. Herbst, Escanaba; James O. Lindquist, Bark River; Paul N. Roberts, Rapid River; John P. Waeghe, Gladstone; Gerald M. Arntzen, Escanaba; Irvin E. Seymour, Rapid River; Joseph J. Grzybowski III, Bark River; David P. Klasell, Escanaba; Carl R. Anderson, Wells; Cecil W. Spieth, Escanaba; and Harold L. Bergman of Gladstone.

According to Miss Wagner the call for January has been received and is for 28 men, one of the largest calls in recent months. Orders will be mailed when the reporting date has been received by the local draft board office.

Shock And Grief Grip People Of Community

United in grief by the death of President Kennedy, people of the area went soberly about routine tasks today following an afternoon of horror and shock.

First news that President Kennedy was victim of an assassin's bullet was received with disbelief. The long minutes that followed through the cold and rainy afternoon brought first rumors and then confirmation of the President's death.

In factories as the news spread from station to station men gathered to share the shock and the whole tempo of work changed.

In stores the news caused an exodus of patrons as people returned to their homes to listen and watch as the report of the assassination unfolded.

Social gatherings changed character. Bridge players put down their cards to follow the news. Seldom does one topic of conversation so dominate the thinking of the whole nation as did the death of President Kennedy in this era of electronic communications.

Faces of the people reflected their sorrow. Flags at public buildings were lowered to half staff. People prayed. Some of them gathered in churches. Others said silent prayers in their homes, or at their jobs in factories and shops.

Expression of initial shock gave way to grief and to sympathy for the President's family. Comments of the people reflected those emotions.

The Rt. Rev. Msgr. Martin B. Melican, pastor of St. Patrick's Church and dean of the Delta County Catholic Deanery, said: "Our country has lost a great leader and the world an outstanding statesman. May he now have the peace he tried to establish on earth."

James Pryal, Escanaba postmaster, commented, "I'm shocked and I'm sick. This is inconceivable. There is little more I can say."

Mrs. Victor Powers, president of the League of Women Voters, expressed her feelings about the assassination this way, "In the face of this shocking and seemingly senseless tragedy all must stand together to use all our abilities in carrying on the work of the nation and the world with even greater courage and effort."

George Harvey, city manager of Escanaba: "The tragic news of our President's death has our citizens in a state of disbelief. Our people join in an expression of profound sympathy to the family of President Kennedy."

Rev. Canon James G. Ward, rector emeritus, St. Stephen's Episcopal Church: "I am shocked, grieved, and find it hard to believe. Why should any man want to kill so good a man and a President? It seems impossible that this should happen in a Christian country. Anyone who believes in God and the beauties of religion for our education and national affairs must be terribly grieved. May God bless his dear wife and family."

Marie Peters, Probate Judge of Delta County, said "It's hard to believe. It's certainly a horribly un-American thing to do. Regardless of political affiliations, we have much better ways of settling things than this. It's just impossible to believe — it's tragic."

Sheriff Cully Johnson said he just couldn't comment on his feelings. "It's just too impossible to believe, words can't express how I feel."

Sgt. Hugh E. Pope, commander of the Gladstone Michigan State Police Post — "Like everyone else I think it almost too tragic to believe. It gives you a queasy feeling in the pit of your stomach. It will be difficult to find a man who can meet the goals of President Kennedy."

Dr. William Hemes, president, Escanaba Area Public Schools board of education: "This is one of those unbelievable things. If it had happened in a foreign country, perhaps, but not here and in this day and age. Political affiliation means nothing at a time like this. Our President, our leader, was killed."

James G. Ward Jr., associate publisher, Escanaba Daily Press: "At this moment I have the deepest and most sincere compassion for the Kennedy family. The portent of this act — internationally — bothers me a great deal. The act itself does not speak well for America. That is my upmost thought at the moment. I feel most sincerely that our society is to blame. This is something that none cannot quite explain but face it we must. As Americans, this is our opportunity to reaffirm the faith that our forefathers had in this country or else we are surely on the road to doom. Mr. Kennedy's death is on our national conscience. God grant us the wisdom, as a nation, to gain something from the tragedy."

Attorney Wheaton L. Strom: "All I can say is that it's a terrible personal shock to everyone. We all feel that the loss is like someone from our own family. At this time it is most important to be patient with differences and not get excited about personal prejudices. Northerners particularly should not accentuate that the tragedy happened in the south. This mania could have happened anywhere. This is not a time to inflame our anger. The disaster shouldn't cause hate but should help to solve problems."

Rev. Walfrid Nelson, pastor of Bethany Lutheran Church and president of the Delta County Ministerial Association, said for the Association: "Whom God crowns, let no man try to disown. And yet we are saddened by the tragic death of our beloved President and stand in deepest shock that such an untimely death by the hand of an assassin could happen in our great country."

"There are some men whose life work makes the impression of solid strength and of noble serviceableness. Like the mountains, which rise above the surface of the earth, they abide steadfast in their place, enriching human existence. But though such a man must fall, he does not, thank God, like the mountain, come to naught."

"The strength of our past beloved President's personality, which was spiritual, shall continue on. Here was a leader who so blended gracious and good qualities, so combined the traits and characteristics which dis-

Father Of Mrs. Alfred Gossan Taken By Death

Michael Abraham, 81, of Iron Mountain, father of Mrs. Alfred Gossan of 1507 17th Ave. S., Escanaba, died at 9 p. m. Friday (C.S.T.) in the Dickinson Memorial Hospital where he had been a patient one week. Mr. Abraham had been in ill health the past six months.

His wife, Sadie, died Sept. 2 of this year.

PROCLAMATION

THE UNITED STATES has been plunged into the vale of sorrow by the tragic death of President John F. Kennedy at the hands of an assassin, and

WHEREAS the death of the President touches the lives and hearts of every citizen of the nation, and will in some measure affect all of the nations of the world; and

WHEREAS, we the people of the United States deplore all acts of violence and lawlessness;

THEREFORE, be it resolved that the citizens of Escanaba, Michigan, do express their deep and sincere sympathy to the late President's wife, Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy, and to all members of the late President's family.

THEREFORE, be it further resolved, that the citizens of Escanaba, Michigan, display their loyalty to the United States and to the principles of freedom under adequate laws.

THEREFORE, I, Harold Vanlerberghe, Mayor of Escanaba, by the authority vested in me proclaim a period of mourning, when the flag of the United States shall be displayed at half staff on all public buildings, schools and colleges as a mark of respect to the memory of the late President.

And as a mark of loyalty to the Nation and to the President Lyndon B. Johnson.

And do call upon the citizens of Escanaba to make daily supplication in their homes and several places of worship to the Eternal Creator that the nation shall be preserved, one nation, under God, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all.

Nov. 22, 1963

Follow-Up Unit For TB X-Rays Here Dec. 9-13

The Michigan Department of Health Mobile Follow-up Unit will again be in Delta County, Dec. 9. This unit differs from the units that were in the Upper Peninsula in October, in that large and small X-rays will be taken. Because it takes more time to take the larger films fewer films can be taken each day.

Those qualifying for these X-rays (to be taken free of charge) are: ex-tuberculosis patients and their families; school children who have had a positive tuberculin skin test; persons having abnormal X-rays in the October X-ray screening; foodhandlers; teachers who missed out on the last Mobile Unit; anyone who has their physician's referral for this service.

If you qualify, do not let this opportunity go by. Call or write the Health Department, County Building, Escanaba, telephone 786-4111 for further information. Menominee County residents can also come if they qualify. They can get further information from either the Escanaba or Menominee office of the Health Department.

If it had happened in a foreign country, perhaps, but not here and in this day and age. Political affiliation means nothing at a time like this. Our president, our leader, was killed."

James G. Ward Jr., associate publisher, Escanaba Daily Press: "At this moment I have the deepest and most sincere compassion for the Kennedy family. The portent of this act — internationally — bothers me a great deal. The act itself does not speak well for America. That is my upmost thought at the moment. I feel most sincerely that our society is to blame. This is something that none cannot quite explain but face it we must. As Americans, this is our opportunity to reaffirm the faith that our founding forefathers had in this country or else we are surely on the road to doom. Mr. Kennedy's death is on our national conscience. God grant us the wisdom, as a nation, to gain something from the tragedy."

Attorney Wheaton L. Strom: "All I can say is that it's a terrible personal shock to everyone. We all feel that the loss is like someone from our own family. At this time it is most important to be patient with differences and not get excited about personal prejudices. Northerners particularly should not accentuate that the tragedy happened in the south. This mania could have happened anywhere. This is not a time to inflame our anger. The disaster shouldn't cause hate but should help to solve problems."

Rev. Walfred Nelson, pastor of Bethany Lutheran Church and president of the Delta County Ministerial Association, said for the Association:

"Whom God crowns, let no man try to disown. And yet we are saddened by the tragic death of our beloved President and stand in deepest shock that such an untimely death by the hand of an assassin could happen in our great country."

"There are some men whose life work makes the impression of solid strength and of noble serviceableness. Like the mountains, which rise above the surface of the earth, they abide steadfast in their place, enriching human existence. But though such a man must fall, he does not, thank God, like the mountain, come to naught."

"The strength of our past beloved President's personality, which was spiritual, shall continue on. Here was a leader who so blended gracious and good qualities, so combined the traits and characteristics which distinguish men, as to be worthy of our highest respect."

"Instead of mourning, let us look up as citizens of the United States and as Christians who confess in life beyond the grave and say with the poet: 'His day has come, not gone; the sun has risen, not set; his life is now beyond the reach of earth or change; not ended, but begun. O noble soul, O gentle heart; hail and farewell.'"

Mrs. Elnora Vader, government teacher, Escanaba Area High School: "It seems this is the loss of someone we all knew personally. When the news was received in school the reaction was first one of disbelief, followed by a wondering 'Could this really happen in America today?' At the expense of being trite, the tragedy brings to everyone — students and all citizens — renewed meaning to the phrase 'The price of liberty is eternal vigilance.'"

Wife Puts Ring On Finger Of Dead President

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mrs. Kennedy said goodbye to her husband with a kiss on his lips and then slipped her ring on his finger.

From then on—from the emergency room in the Dallas hospital through the sad flight home, to the Naval hospital where he was prepared for burial until she brought him home in death to the White House early today — she was at his side.

As she passed through the somber portals of the executive mansion she still wore the pink suit stained with the blood of his fatal wounds, and carried herself with self control.

It was a harsh day and it left Mrs. Kennedy dazed and tearful, almost unable to show emotion. Her husband had been shot as he sat beside her in a gaily received motorcade. She had held him, bleeding and mortally wounded, in a speeding dash to a hospital where he never regained consciousness.

In the hospital, she bade her handsome 46-year-old husband a goodbye that was so touching a witness, Rep. Henry B. Gonzalez, D-Tex., "couldn't bear to watch."

"Pray for him," Mrs. Kennedy asked a Roman Catholic priest who administered last rites to the President.

With the tragedy written in her face, Mrs. Kennedy stood beside Lyndon B. Johnson in a crowded compartment of the presidential plane as he took the oath of office to succeed her husband.

When a Texas police captain who watched the scene said, "God bless you, little lady, but you ought to go back and lie down," Mrs. Kennedy said, "no, thanks, I'm fine" and went to the rear compartment to sit beside Kennedy's coffin on the jet ride home.

Mrs. Kennedy had just started to resume her official activities after the tragic death of her infant son, Patrick Bouvier Kennedy, three months ago. Her first social appearance had been at a White House judicial reception, where she and the President entertained more than 600 guests Wednesday night.

Mrs. Kennedy—Gal. 2
Death struck at what was to be one of the happiest times of the year for the Kennedys—the birthday celebrations of their two children—Caroline and John Jr.—and the traditional gathering of the Kennedy clan for a festive Thanksgiving at Cape Cod.

Now, it remained for Mrs. Kennedy to console her small children over the loss of their father. Evidently Mrs. Kennedy planned to break the news to them herself.

In the 10 years of her marriage to Kennedy, the one-time debutante Jacqueline Bouvier had faced other tragedies. She had suffered several miscarriages—one of them after the 1956 Democratic National Convention in which Kennedy narrowly missed being nominated for vice president.

Kennedy, on a vacation in France, was far from her hospital bedside at the crisis. She had faced alone the premature birth of son John Jr., on Nov. 25, 1960 while Kennedy was flying to Florida to launch his new frontier administration in the pre-inaugural period.

A year later, at Christmas time 1961, she was among the first of the family to rush to the bedside of the President's father, Joseph P. Kennedy, who had suffered a stroke.

The emergency Caesarian birth of little Patrick on Aug. 7 was the most recent ordeal for the first lady.

Again, Kennedy had had to rush to her bedside from Washington, a bit too late to be there when the baby was born at Otis Air Force Base Hospital in Massachusetts.

PROCLAMATION

THE UNITED STATES has been plunged into the vale of sorrow by the tragic death of President John F. Kennedy at the hands of an assassin, and

WHEREAS the death of the President touches the lives and hearts of every citizen of the nation, and will in some measure affect all of the nations of the world; and

WHEREAS, we the people of the United States deplore all acts of violence and lawlessness;

THEREFORE, be it resolved that the citizens of Escanaba, Michigan, do express their deep and sincere sympathy to the late President's wife, Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy, and to all members of the late President's family.

THEREFORE, be it further resolved, that the citizens of Escanaba, Michigan, display their loyalty to the United States and to the principles of freedom under adequate laws.

THEREFORE, I, Harold Vanlerberghe, Mayor of Escanaba, by the authority vested in me proclaim a period of mourning, when the flag of the United States shall be displayed at half staff on all public buildings, schools and colleges as a mark of respect to the memory of the late President.

And as a mark of loyalty to the Nation and to the President Lyndon B. Johnson.

And do call upon the citizens of Escanaba to make daily supplication in their homes and several places of worship to the Eternal Creator that the nation shall be preserved, one nation, under God, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all.

Nov. 22, 1963

City Schools Close Monday

Walter Bright, superintendent of the Escanaba Area Public Schools and Rev. Fr. Lawrence Gauthier, superintendent of Holy Name High School announced today that all schools in Escanaba would be closed on Monday.

Their statement cited reasons for closing: out of respect to the late President John F. Kennedy; because of current events and historical coverage by mass media make a significant contribution to education. The schools are just not equipped to provide students with facilities in this area.

Some children will also be attending church services on Monday.

Manistique and Gladstone public schools are also closing on Monday.

History, Alive With Tears, Is Friday's Lesson

By JEAN WORTH

Escanaba received the news of the assassination of President Kennedy with shocked disbelief.

This reaction was helped by the confusion which followed the shooting.

The confirmation of his death was quite a while in coming and there was national hope that the evolving event would prove to be less horrendous than its first implications.

But all the first dreadful fears of devoted people were soon realized.

"The President is dead."

The hectic hunt for the rifleman in Dallas went on as the President's body was placed aboard the Presidential airliner for the flight to Washington.

Lyndon Baines Johnson was already the 36th President of the United States.

The radio and television flashed the news. The press was stopped in the Escanaba Daily Press plant with part of the run off. The banner headline said "State Policeman Admits Royal Oak Bank Robbery." The dateline was Center Line, Mich. It was the kind of pile-run news story which rates top play on an ordinary day. And then the bottom dropped out. The bell on the Associated Press teletype began ringing for bulletin attention.

Press Is Stopped

The Press's press was stopped within an hour it was out with a new headline in boxcar type: "President Kennedy Killed by Assassin." It was the kind of type that hadn't been used since the finding of the Lindbergh Baby and the declaration of World War II.

The news came in from Dallas agonizingly slow for News Editor Danny Danielson who was making over Page 1 to give Press readers a factual account to still the wild rumors like: "Vice President Johnson has had a heart attack."

With confirmation of the President's death, the press rolled again.

WLST stayed with the ABC network to give its listeners an up-to-the-second account of the developing story of the tragedy. The news spread like wildfire in Escanaba and elsewhere.

In the House of Ludington a friend called Pat Hayes and BERKHAMPTSTEAD, England (AP) — The parents of Michael Gann, 4, say he has the golden touch.

By showing his father, William, how to fill out his weekly football pool, form, Michael has just won $6,203.

By British law, children are not allowed to enter the pools, based on the results of the nation's weekly soccer games.

Michael fills out a dummy form. His father copies the dummy and sends it in.

Mrs. Gann said her son has won 16 third prizes.

he announced to the luncheon assembly: "The President has been shot." Every diner left the tables and rushed to a television set.

In Rapid River's schools children living near school dashed home and got their transistor radios and brought them back to school for the broadcast. Classes suspended. "This was a historic event," said Bob Olsen of the high school faculty. "They were hearing more history than they could get out of the texts that day. They cried for two hours."

The drift to the churches started. There were no formal services so soon but the mourning stopped in to kneel and say a prayer.

There were no Democrats or Republicans—only Americans. There was some talk of outrage at the assassination, but mostly it was dismay, mourning, a repetition of "How could this happen?"

Phone lines jingled as friends alerted friends. Soon virtually all the radios and tv sets were lighted and people were waiting for the paper that was late because the President had been assassinated. He was the fourth of the nation's 35 presidents to be killed in office.

"Poor Mrs. Kennedy," so many people said. And they felt sorry for themselves, too, and that feeling went around the world, because John F. Kennedy had urged people to greatness in the support of freedom and decency for all humans.

Demand University Give Negroes Edge

ANN ARBOR — The University of Michigan has released the text of a letter from the Ann Arbor Direct Action Committee demanding preferential hiring of Negroes under threat of a picket line which would forcibly prevent entrance to the Administration Building.

The letter contained a list of demands and a time table for compliance. The DAC stressed that if demands are not met, all attempts to enter the building through the picket line "whether by employees, unaligned civilians, University officials or police, will be forcibly opposed."

W. K. Pierpont, U-M vice president, said the University "will not discuss with or consider the demands of any group or individual based on the threat of force or violence."

State Recalls Kennedy's Tour

DETROIT (AP) — The death of President John F. Kennedy brings to mind the dynamic figure he presented in a whirlwind tour of Michigan a little more than a year ago.

Oct. 5 and 6 of last year Kennedy swept across Michigan with impassioned pleas for voters to support Democratic candidates in the Nov. 6 election.

He was less than completely successful because voters chose Republican George Romney over John B. Swainson for the governorship. But Neil Staebler defeated Republican Alvin Bentley for the new post of congressman-at-large.

While Swainson, Staebler and other Democratic officials shared the platforms with the President, there was no doubt about who was the star of the show.

It was, indisputably, the President, who declared at the outset that it was a political trip.

In a 15-minute speech to some 5,000 cheering spectators on Detroit's Washington Boulevard, the President reeled off a long list of issues as examples of legislation which he said was proposed by Democrats and rejected by the GOP. The list included medical care and housing for the aged, a $1.25 minimum wage, social security, area redevelopment and unemployment compensation.

Kennedy noted that a majority of Michigan Republicans in Congress had opposed a flexible tariff bill which he said would broaden exports of Michigan-built cars to Europe. He added: "You won't sell cars from Detroit unless this country is prosperous."

Kennedy spent a Friday night in a downtown Detroit hotel and rode in a motorcade to Detroit City Airport. From there the delegation flew to Flint and Muskegon.

At Flint, a crowd of some 25,000 turned out to hear him and the President was warmly applauded as he urged the election of a Democratic Congress.

At Muskegon, a gathering of about 20,000 greeted the President at the airport, where he spoke. At Muskegon in particular, the turnout did not come up to expectations.

But, the crowds were enthusiastic and there were no expressions of sentiment against Kennedy policies.

The Michigan visit over, Kennedy climbed aboard his airplane. The giant ship sped down the runway, lifted into the autumn haze and flew out over Lake Michigan, carrying President John F. Kennedy a way from Michigan for the last time.

South America's greatest average annual rainfall is 413 inches, at Quibdo, Colombia.

Martin Delvaux' Infant Daughter Dies Of Pneumonia

Patricia Jean Delvaux, 22-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Delvaux of Flat Rock, died Friday at 5:50 p. m. in St. Francis Hospital where she had been a patient two days with pneumonia.

Surviving are her parents; three sisters, Barbara, Loretta and Carol, a brother, Stephen, all at home; the maternal grandmother, Mrs. Joseph Filion of Escanaba.

Friends may call at the Al-o Funeral Home after 4 p. m. on Sunday.

A Mass of Angels will be held at Holy Family Church in Flat Rock at 11 a. m. Monday with Rev. Thomas Andary officiating. Burial will be in the Escanaba Township Cemetery.

Bark River

The Bark River Cub Scout Pack 445 will hold its monthly meeting, Monday, Nov. 25, at 8 p. m. in the Bark River-Harris Elementary School. Den 3 will present the program and Den 2 is in charge of refreshments. All leaders are asked to report at 7:30 for a brief meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Bugay of Gary, Ind., who have been staying at Whip - Poor - Will cabin and visiting relatives and friends the past week returned to their home Thursday. Mrs. Paul Barlas and two children who have been visiting the Stanley Bugay family returned to Gary with them. Mrs. Barlas was formerly Barbara Bugay.

Mrs. Stanley Bugay is visiting this month with her son and family, the James Bugays, in Tacoma, Wash., and a nephew's family the Robert Bugays, also of Tacoma. The latter is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bugay.

Mr. and Mrs. Hammar will be seated as guests of honor and the toastmaster will be Dr. Vernon K. Johnson.

Monday has been proclaimed "Charley Hammar Day" in Escanaba by Mayor Harold Vanlerberghe and with adoption by the City Council of an appropriate resolution. The proclamation will be read as a part of the dinner program.

Recognizing the 77-year-old Charles Hammar as a "friend to man" the proclamation praised him for his "keen interest in the unfortunate, the sick, the persons being in need of the assistance of their fellowmen."

Through his association with Masonic, Odd Fellow and other organizations Hammar has been helpful in providing assistance to children and adults with defects of sight, or crippled children who are given treatment in Shrine Hospitals, and to young people in need of loans for college education.

The testimonial program will include invocation by the Rev. J. Bruce Brown, pastor of the First Methodist Church of which Mr. Hammar is a member; comments by Clarence Moore, general chairman of the committee arranging the event. Moore is physical therapist at orthopedic rooms at the John A. Lemmer School and is familiar with the many good services of Hammar to aid crippled children.

An honorary membership in the Escanaba Rotary Club will be presented by Robert Mosenfelter, club president; Guy Knutson, long-time friend of Mr. Hammar, will speak; Miss Eva Flemstrom will present a record testimonial; and Arne Maki, representing the Shriners, will make a presentation.

Mrs. M. H. Garrard Jr. will direct the Orpheus Chorus in a program of songs and will lead the diners in group singing.

Blau Manages Goodrich Store

Edward Blau is the new manager of the B. F. Goodrich store at 1300 Ludington St., succeeding Ralph Scheffler, who has been transferred to Racine, Wis.

Blau is a native of Escanaba and a graduate of St. Joseph High School in 1943. He joined the B. F. Goodrich Co., here in December 1949 and has been employed in its local store since then.

He is married to the former Mary Hope Greenfield of Escanaba and they have four children, Susan, Barbara, Rebecca and Mark. The Blau home is at 2012 Fifth Ave. S.

Wendell Blixt has taken over the service department of the store in a rearrangement of staff and Gene Harkins, formerly in charge of that department, has been moved to retail sales.

Kiwanis Officers To Meet Sunday

Officers-elect of the Kiwanis Clubs of Division 17, Wisconsin, Upper Michigan District of Kiwanis International, will gather at 1:30 p.m. EST at the Mather Inn, Ishpeming, on Sunday, for a training program and conference. B. Franz Schubert, Houghton, Lieutenant governor-designate, will conduct the school.

Al J. Wickley, Hancock, Lieutenant governor, will chair the meeting.

Schubert is director of music at Michigan Tech. Clubs attending the event will include Iron Mountain, Escanaba, Marquette, Iron County, Copper Country and Ishpeming.

In early January the Kiwanis program reaches climax when it meets in Madison, Wis., for a two day mid-winter conference. District officers will be installed and the years activities launched.

Detroit Had 600 Policemen To Guard President

DETROIT (AP)—Six hundred Detroit policemen virtually protected President John F. Kennedy's every move on his Motor City visit Oct. 6, 1962.

This was exclusive of the host of Secret Service men who also guarded him.

Almost every step he took, every move he made, had to be "authorized." Security had first to be assured all was well.

The President's visit went without a hitch.

"Thank God," affirmed Inspector Paul Sheridan, "it went without a hitch." Sheridan was one of the top men in charge of Mr. Kennedy's huge security arrangements.

Overpasses Guarded The veteran officer, who helped to police a previous Kennedy visit, too, breathed his gratitude that Kennedy had been safe in Detroit.

The mobilization of bluecoat and plainclothes manpower was planned and executed to the last detail.

Sheridan's responsibility was to set up security and crowd control measures.

From rooftops and windows, from streets and sidewalks, Kennedy was guarded. The police phalanxes, linked by instantaneous radio communication, were solid while covering many miles of distances. Officers carried radio handsets and pocket sets.

At points miles ahead, as the President's entourage rolled in from Detroit Metropolitan Airport on the 35-minute ride to downtown Detroit, all the overpasses were guarded.

Before the entourage reached any overpass all pedestrian and vehicular traffic was banned from it. They were all empty as the President's car swept beneath at the 55 MPH legal speed.

A 35-man motorcycle escort led Mr. Kennedy's motorcade. Immediately behind came two cars of policemen and a secret service operative.

Then came the President's bubble-dome car and immediately behind him more police.

Buildings Checked Buildings along the President's route were checked. Police wanted to know who would be on hand when Mr. Kennedy went by.

The Sheraton - Cadillac hotel, where Kennedy occupied the Presidential Suite on a high floor, got the fine-tooth comb treatment in a police examination.

All elevator shafts and doors were checked. When the President was in his suite, all corridors on his floor were roped off. For 24 hours before his arrival the floor was kept unoccupied. One elevator shaft was set aside for exclusive use of the official party.

The presidential party's automobiles were put in custody in the police garage a day or 2 before he arrived. A day and night watch was kept on the cars for the 24 hours before he came to town.

Sheridan said all the foregoing tight security is practiced when a President comes to the city.

He indicated the police were proud of the way they handle this assignment.

"We get him (the President) in. And we get him out. We stay with him from the moment he arrives to the moment he leaves."

Mr. Kennedy came and departed safely.

Legion Suggests Flags Be Flown At Half Staff

Citizens of the area are asked by the Cloverland Post 82, American Legion, to fly flags at half-staff in expressing sorrow at the death of President Kennedy. This should continue until after the funeral.

Legion officials said the proper procedure is to raise the flag to the top of the staff and then lower it slowly to half staff. When taking the flag down at night it should first be raised to the top and then lowered.

History, Alive With Tears, Is Friday's Lesson

By JEAN WORTH

Escanaba received the news of the assassination of President Kennedy with shocked disbelief.

This reaction was helped by the confusion which followed the shooting.

The confirmation of his death was quite a while in coming and there was national hope that the evolving event would prove to be less horrendous than its first implications.

But all the first dreadful fears of devoted people were soon realized.

"The President is dead."

The hectic hunt for the rifleman in Dallas went on as the President's body was placed aboard the Presidential airliner for the flight to Washington.

Lyndon Baines Johnson was already the 36th President of the United States.

The radio and television flashed the news. The press was stopped in the Escanaba Daily Press plant with part of the run off. The banner headline said "State Policeman Admits Royal Oak Bank Robbery." The dateline was Center Line, Mich. It was the kind of pile-run news story which rates top play on an ordinary day. And then the bottom dropped out. The bell on the Associated Press teletype began ringing for bulletin attention.

Press Is Stopped

The Press's press was stopped on a within an hour it was out with a new headline in boxcar type: "President Kennedy Killed by Assassin." It was the kind of type that hadn't been used since the finding of the Lindbergh Baby and the declaration of World War II.

The news came in from Dallas agonizingly slow for News Editor Danny Danielson who was making over Page 1 to give Press readers a factual account to still the wild rumors like: "Vice President Johnson has had a heart attack."

With confirmation of the President's death, the press rolled again.

WLST stayed with the ABC network to give its listeners an up-to-the-second account of the developing story of the tragedy. The news spread like wildfire in Escanaba and elsewhere.

In the House of Ludington a friend called Pat Hayes and he announced to the luncheon assembly: "The President has been shot." Every diner left the tables and rushed to a television set.

In Rapid River's schools children living near school dashed home and got their transistor radios and brought them back to school for the broadcast. Classes suspended. "This was a historic event," said Bob Olsen of the high school faculty. "They were hearing more history than they could get out of the texts that day. They cried for two hours."

The drift to the churches started. There were no formal services so soon but the mourning stopped in to kneel and say a prayer.

There were no Democrats or Republicans—only Americans. There was some talk of outrage at the assassination, but mostly it was dismay, mourning, a repetition of "How could this happen?"

Phone lines jingled as friends alerted friends. Soon virtually all the radios and tv sets were lighted and people were waiting for the paper that was late because the President had been assassinated. He was the fourth of the nation's 35 presidents to be killed in office.

"Poor Mrs. Kennedy," so many people said. And they felt sorry for themselves, too, and that feeling went around the world, because John F. Kennedy had urged people to greatness in the support of freedom and decency for all humans.

Demand University Give Negroes Edge

ANN ARBOR — The University of Michigan has released the text of a letter from the Ann Arbor Direct Action Committee demanding preferential hiring of Negroes under threat of a picket line which would forcibly prevent entrance to the Administration Building.

The letter contained a list of demands and a time table for compliance. The DAC stressed that if demands are not met, all attempts to enter the building through the picket line "whether by employees, unaligned civilians, University officials or police, will be forcibly opposed."

W. K. Pierpont, U-M vice president, said the University "will not discuss with or consider the demands of any group or individual based on the threat of force or violence."

State Recalls Kennedy's Tour

DETROIT (AP) — The death of President John F. Kennedy brings to mind the dynamic figure he presented in a whirlwind tour of Michigan a little more than a year ago.

Oct. 5 and 6 of last year Kennedy swept across Michigan with impassioned pleas for voters to support Democratic candidates in the Nov. 6 election.

He was less than completely successful because voters chose Republican George Romney over John B. Swainson for the governorship. But Neil Staebler defeated Republican Alvin Bentley for the new post of congressman-at-large.

While Swainson, Staebler and other Democratic officials shared the platforms with the President, there was no doubt about who was the star of the show.

It was, indisputably, the President, who declared at the outset that it was a political trip. In a 15-minute speech to some 5,000 cheering spectators on Detroit's Washington Boulevard, the President reeled off a long list of issues as examples of legislation which he said was proposed by Democrats and rejected by the GOP. The list included medical care and housing for the aged, a $1.25 minimum wage, social security, area redevelopment and unemployment compensation.

Kennedy noted that a majority of Michigan Republicans in Congress had opposed a flexible tariff bill which he said would broaden exports of Michigan-built cars to Europe. He added: "You won't sell cars from Detroit unless this country is prosperous."

Kennedy spent a Friday night in a downtown Detroit hotel and rode in a motorcade to Detroit City Airport. From there the delegation flew to Flint and Muskegon.

At Flint, a crowd of some 25,000 turned out to hear him and the President was warmly applauded as he urged the election of a Democratic Congress.

At Muskegon, a gathering of about 20,000 greeted the President at the airport, where he spoke. At Muskegon in particular, the turnout did not come up to expectations.

But, the crowds were enthusiastic and there were no expressions of sentiment against Kennedy policies.

The Michigan visit over, Kennedy climbed aboard his airplane. The giant ship sped down the runway, lifted into the autumn haze and flew over Lake Michigan, carrying President John F. Kennedy away from Michigan for the last time.

South America's greatest average annual rainfall is 413 inches, at Quibdo, Colombia.

Charley Hammar Program Monday

A testimonial dinner honoring Charley Hammar, Escanaba's 'friendliest man' who has helped hundreds of handicapped children and adults, will be attended by about 300 persons here Monday evening.

The 6:30 dinner program will be in the commons of the Escanaba Area High School.

Mr. and Mrs. Hammar will be seated as guests of honor and the toastmaster will be Dr. Vernon K. Johnson.

Monday has been proclaimed "Charley Hammar Day" in Escanaba by Mayor Harold Vanlerberghe and with adoption by the City Council of an appropriate resolution. The proclamation will be read as a part of the dinner program.

Recognizing the 77-year-old Charley Hammar as a "friend to man" the proclamation praised him for his "keen interest in the unfortunate, the sick, the persons being in need of the assistance of their fellowmen."

Through his association with Masonic, Odd Fellow and other organizations Hammar has been helpful in providing assistance to children and adults with defects of sight, or crippled children who are given treatment in Shrine Hospitals, and to young people in need of loans for college education.

The testimonial program will include invocation by the Rev. J. Bruce Brown, pastor of the First Methodist Church of which Mr. Hammar is a member; comments by Clarence Moore, general chairman of the committee arranging the event. Moore is physical therapist at orthopedic rooms at the John A. Lemmer School and is familiar with the many good services of Hammar to aid crippled children.

An honorary membership in the Escanaba Rotary Club will be presented by Robert Mosendener, club president; Guy Knutson, long-time friend of Mr. Hammar, will speak; Miss Eva Flemstrom will present a record testimonial; and Arne Maki, representing the Shrine, will make a presentation.

Mrs. M. H. Garrard Jr. will direct the Orpheus Chorus in a program of songs and will lead the diners in group singing.

Legion Suggests Flags Be Flown At Half Staff

Citizens of the area are asked by the Cloverland Post 82, American Legion, to fly flags at half-staff in expressing sorrow at the death of President Kennedy. This should continue until after the funeral.

Legion officials said the proper procedure is to raise the flag to the top of the staff and then lower it slowly to half staff. When taking the flag down at night it should first be raised to the top and then lowered.

John Fitzgerald Kennedy 1917 - 1963

Truly tragic events shock a people into the realization of true values. All the little edgy irritations of politics and economic competition and of social offense fade away in such moments.

Americans felt this shock on Friday when the startling news that President Kennedy had been shot by an assassin swept across the nation. There was a brief period of disbelief and then came the confirmation of the President's death in Dallas.

The event, so huge in its implications of loss for the Free World in the death of a great leader, was marked by human tragedy too; the First Lady holding the dying President's head and crying in despairing disbelief: "Oh no! Oh no!"

It is hard to comprehend an event of such magnitude quickly or fully. The President had an immense popularity with Americans. He had brought to the White House gallantry and courage, humor and great ability for the discharge of the most important office in the world. The years of his administration stand forth in fine tribute to the man, especially for his valiant stand for civil rights — human rights is a better term — despite his knowledge, as a consummate politician, that this was an unpopular position and that it was acutely traumatic in the White South.

The role of a leader in the office of the President is beyond easy comprehension. The citizen judges the President by reaction to his association with the citizen's special interests and by the general success of national policy. The President's task is so complex and so subject to cross-currents and pressures that, practically, today he must make policy by compromise and must lead by inspiring his people to support of policies beyond selfishness.

President Kennedy, nurtured in wealth, with a rich family inheritance of political savvy — that mother of the arts — brought to office a rare knowledge of the forces in ferment in modern America and of how to deal with their diversity to achieve a successful government. With his death there is only praise for him and this is much more than funeral courtesy; this is recognition of the great structure of the man.

He fought hard for measures which are anathema to some conservatives, convinced that they are needed in modern America. Millions who never saw him at home and abroad took strength from his courageous leadership. And millions asked themselves: "Why must he be lost in such a shameful manner?"

Americans are a proud people and today many were reflecting that they had often condemned in a haughty manner political killings in backward countries. They felt demeaned by the assassination of President Kennedy and mocked in America's proud boast of fair play despite controversy.

President Kennedy used his high office as an inspiration to Americans and to the world; demanding of us concern for the poor and ignorant of the world, and a sharing of our affluence that others might have decency. In the crucible of national politics he was masterful and enlightened and his worth was beyond calculation to the hopes of the peoples of the world for peace and for a sufficiency to give dignity to living.

The death of the President — so young, so powerful, so zealously guarded by the Secret Service and the hopes of his nation — is a sharp reminder to Americans of the great demands upon our national leaders. Four of our 36 presidents have been slain by assassins, but an even greater toll has been taken by the threats and pressures under which they live constantly. They take this risk and it is a part of the measure of their greatness and of their willingness to give supremely of themselves to serve their nation.

President Kennedy, who almost gave his life for his country as a naval hero of World War II, had his life taken in a low ambush in a sudden moment when no one but the assassin expected it. He was cut off at a time in his career when he was in a position of greater usefulness to America and to the Free World than ever before and than any other person.

Under him America had made substantial gains against Communism.

Under him America had been able to reduce its religious intolerance and to elect the first Catholic President.

Under him and Mrs. Kennedy the White House had acquired new stature as a citadel of the arts and graces.

Historians will surely say that his confrontation of Khrushchev over the Russian missile bases in Cuba was his grandest hour, and this in world terms of power must become historically fateful. But his greatest contribution to his own people will be judged to have been his leadership in respect for the rights of all Americans, for religious tolerance, and toward a true new frontier which recognizes the new affluence, mobility and longevity of Americans of the 20th Century. He was a modern man.

All America mourns him and extends deep and genuine sympathy to his family.

Motor City Got Good Look At Lyndon Johnson

DETROIT (AP) — Lyndon Baines Johnson, the 36th President of the United States, demonstrated vividly his many-faceted personality on two visits to Michigan this year.

The tall Texan, then vice president, met and dined with Republicans and Democrats, promoted party unity, turned a hand toward improving Michigan's economy, accepted an honorary degree, spoke passionately for an end to racial prejudice — and turned his homespun charm on the populace.

Johnson visited the Motor City Jan. 6. The stated purpose of the trip was for a special convocation of Wayne State University which awarded him a doctor of laws degree. He officially inaugurated the university's year-long recognition of the centennial of the Emancipation Proclamation.

Last Trip In March

In a speech at the Civic Center, Johnson said the United States is spending "tens of billions" each year to preserve freedom on earth.

"Yet," he said, "the annual economic cost of inequality among Americans, of discrimination by Americans against fellow Americans, costs more each year than the total budget for the exploration of outer space."

Johnson said, "A government conceived and dedicated to the purpose that all men are born free and equal cannot pervert its mission by rephrasing the purpose to suggest that men shall be free today — but shall be equal a little later."

Johnson's last trip to Detroit was in March of this year. He delivered a fund-raising speech at a Democratic dinner following a whirlwind city tour which included private meetings with business and research leaders.

Research Discussed

Johnson held closed door meetings with Detroit business executives and research leaders — mostly Republicans. The conferences were aimed at strengthening Michigan's economic climate by expanding research facilities, including those in the space field.

Despite widespread speculation, Johnson denied that he came to Detroit to repair a rift in the Democratic Party's state organization.

"I'm here to make a speech, to make some new acquaintances and to renew some old ones," Johnson said.

"We in Washington believe the Democratic Party in Michigan is one of the finest in any of the 50 states," he added.

Johnson's visit, however, followed by only four weeks the state Democratic convention that saw Zolton A. Ferency elected state chairman over John (Joe) Collins in a bitter fight.

Plea For Unity

He closed his speech with a plea for party unity. Johnson said that the next time he returned to Michigan he did not want to find state Democrats "carving each other up."

Perhaps more of Johnson the man and politician showed through as he waited in the Detroit Civic Center to receive an honorary degree during his January visit.

He joked with bystanders during the robing ceremonies, shook hands with all who walked up to him, leaning forward (he's taller than most men) to catch their names and hear what they had to say.

He posed smilingly for pictures with various citizens.

Johnson, who has a politician's ability to remember names and faces, chatted with a reporter who had known him in Texas. And, as he walked away toward the auditorium platform, he tossed out a traditional Southern parting:

"Next time you're down our way, be sure and drop by."

Rotary Chief Here Monday

Michael J. Anuta, of Menominee, Governor of District 622 of Rotary International, a world-wide service organization arrives in Gladstone Monday, Nov. 25 to visit the local Rotary Club, one of 36 clubs in this District. In addition, to addressing Gladstone Rotarians at their meeting he will confer with Wilbur Montgomery, president of the local club, and other club officers on Rotary administrative matters and service activities.

Michael J. Anuta is Judge of the Municipal Court of the City of Menominee, and practices law in the Menominee, area. As legal officer of the Wisconsin Wing Civil Air Patrol, he has the rank of a Lt. Col. and flies his own plane. Mrs. Anuta will accompany Governor Anuta.

Anuta is past president of the Rotary Club of Menominee. He was elected a District Governor for 1963-64 at Rotary's 54th Annual Convention in St. Louis, Mo., last June. He is one of 272 District Governors responsible for supervising the activities of more than 11,500 Rotary clubs with a total membership of 536,000 Rotarians in 129 countries around the globe.

Mr. Anuta plans to visit Venezuela next February on behalf of the local district.

Before assuming his duties as District Governor, Anuta attended an eight day meeting at Lake Placid, New York, held to assist Rotary Governors to meet the duties of their office.

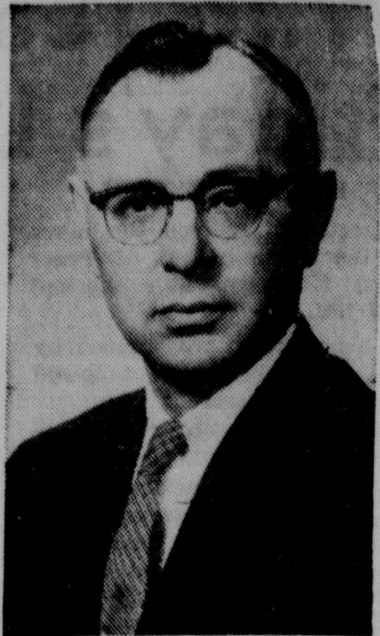

Motorist Injured In Minor Mishap

Oliver E. Guertin, 22, of Rte. 2, Bark River, was ticketed by State Police for violation of the basic speed law, following an accident at 7:45 p.m. Friday on County Road 569, about one mile west of the Delta-Menominee County line. Officers said that Guertin told them he was driving along when he suddenly ran into fog. His car ran off the right side of the road and struck a guardrail at 10-mile Creek. Guertin was treated for minor injuries by a Bark River doctor and released.

A second accident occurred Friday evening. It took place at 8 p.m. on U.S. 2, near the Whitefish Hill, when a car driven by Harry A. Kavanaugh, 22, of Kincheloe Air Force Base, went off the shoulder of the road and rolled over.

Kavanaugh told officers that as he rounded a curve he met an oncoming car that was traveling over the centerline. He said that in an effort to avoid a mishap he drove onto the shoulder, but this caused him to lose control of the car. He was not injured. Considerable damage was done to the car. No tickets were issued.

In 1920, France buried an unknown soldier beneath the Arc de Triomphe in Paris. A perpetual flame was lighted over the tomb.

Don't Tailgate

More persons are being injured today in multiple-car pile-ups—28 were hurt in New Jersey in a series of crackups involving 59 cars—and turnpike authorities blame it all on following too close. Highway patrolmen have found not good enough the old rule of thumb of staying one car length, or 20 feet, behind the next car for each 10 mph of speed. To prevent tailgating crashes, they suggest doubling this, or allowing 13 cars lengths at 60 mph; and doubling this again when the weather is bad.

John Fitzgerald Kennedy
1917 - 1963

Truly tragic events shock a people into the realization of true values. All the little edgy irritations of politics and economic competition and of social offense fade away in such moments.

Americans felt this shock on Friday when the startling news that President Kennedy had been shot by an assassin swept across the nation. There was a brief period of disbelief and then came the confirmation of the President's death in Dallas.

The event, so huge in its implications of loss for the Free World in the death of a great leader, was marked by human tragedy too; the First Lady holding the dying President's head and crying in despairing disbelief: "Oh, no! Oh, no!"

It is hard to comprehend an event of such magnitude quickly or fully. The President had an immense popularity with Americans. He had brought to the White House gallantry and courage, humor and great ability for the discharge of the most important office in the world. The years of his administration stand forth in fine tribute to the man, especially for his valiant stand for civil rights — human rights is a better term — despite his knowledge, as a consummate politician, that this was an unpopular position and that it was acutely traumatic in the White South.

The role of a leader in the office of the President is beyond easy comprehension. The citizen judges the President by reaction to his association with the citizen's special interests and by the general success of national policy. The President's task is so complex and so subject to cross-currents and pressures that, practically, today he must make policy by compromise and must lead by inspiring his people to support of policies beyond selfishness.

President Kennedy, nurtured in wealth, with a rich family inheritance of political savvy — that mother of the arts — brought to office a rare knowledge of the forces in ferment in modern America and of how to deal with their diversity to achieve a successful government. With his death there is only praise for him and this is much more than funeral courtesy; this is recognition of the great structure of the man.

He fought hard for measures which are anathema to some conservatives, convinced that they are needed in modern America. Millions who never saw him at home and abroad took strength from his courageous leadership. And millions asked themselves: "Why must he be lost in such a shameful manner?"

Americans are a proud people and today many were reflecting that they had often condemned in a haughty manner political killings in backward countries. They felt demeaned by the assassination of President Kennedy and mocked in America's proud boast of fair play despite controversy.

President Kennedy used his high office as an inspiration to Americans and to the world; demanding of us concern for the poor and ignorant of the world, and a sharing of our affluence that others might have decency. In the crucible of national politics he was masterful and enlightened and his worth was beyond calculation to the hopes of the peoples of the world for peace and for a sufficiency to give dignity to living.

The death of the President — so young, so powerful, so zealously guarded by the Secret Service and the hopes of his nation — is a sharp reminder to Americans of the great demands upon our national leaders. Four of our 36 presidents have been slain by assassins, but an even greater toll has been taken by the threats and pressures under which they live constantly. They take this risk and it is a part of the measure of their greatness and of their willingness to give supremely of themselves to serve their nation.

President Kennedy, who almost gave his life for his country as a naval hero of World War II, had his life taken in a low ambush in a sudden moment when no one but the assassin expected it. He was cut off at a time in his career when he was in a position of greater usefulness to America and to the Free World than ever before and than any other person.

Under him America had made substantial gains against Communism.

Under him America had been able to reduce its religious intolerance and to elect the first Catholic President.

Under him and Mrs. Kennedy the White House had acquired new stature as a citadel of the arts and graces.

Historians will surely say that his confrontation with Khrushchev over the Russian missile bases in Cuba was his grandest hour, and this in world terms of power must become historically fateful. But his greatest contribution to his own people will be judged to have been his leadership in respect for the rights of all Americans, for religious tolerance, and toward a true new frontier which recognizes the new affluence, mobility and longevity of Americans of the 20th Century. He was a modern man.

All America mourns him and extends deep and genuine sympathy to his family.

Motor City Got Good Look At Lyndon Johnson

DETROIT (AP) — Lyndon Baines Johnson, the 36th President of the United States, demonstrated vividly his many-faceted personality on two visits to Michigan this year.

The tall Texan, then vice president, met and fenced with Republicans and Democrats, promoted party unity, turned a hand toward improving Michigan's economy, accepted an honorary degree, spoke passionately for an end to racial prejudice — and turned his homespun charm on the populace.

Johnson visited the Motor City Jan. 6. The stated purpose of the trip was for a special convocation of Wayne State University which awarded him a doctor of laws degree. He officially inaugurated the university's year-long recognition of the centennial of the Emancipation Proclamation.

In a speech at the Civic Center, Johnson said the United States is spending "tens of billions" each year to preserve freedom on earth.

"Yet," he said, "the annual economic cost of inequality among Americans, of discrimination by Americans against fellow Americans, costs more each year than the total budget for the exploration of outer space."

Johnson said, "A government conceived and dedicated to the purpose that all men are born free and equal cannot pervert its mission by rephrasing the purpose to suggest that men shall be free today — but shall be equal a little later."

Johnson's last trip to Detroit was in March of this year. He delivered a fund-raising speech at a Democratic dinner following a whirlwind city tour which included private meetings with business and research leaders.

Research Discussed

Johnson held closed door meetings with Detroit business executives and research leaders — mostly Republicans. The conferences were aimed at strengthening Michigan's economic climate by expanding research facilities, including those in the space field.

Despite widespread speculation, Johnson denied that he came to Detroit to repair a rift in the Democratic Party's state organization.

"I'm here to make a speech, to make some new acquaintances and to renew some old ones," Johnson said.

"We in Washington believe the Democratic Party in Michigan is one of the finest in any of the 50 states," he added.

Johnson's visit, however, followed by only four weeks the state Democratic convention that saw Zolton A. Ferency elected state chairman over John (Joe) Collins in a bitter fight.

Plea For Unity

He closed his speech with a plea for party unity. Johnson said that the next time he returned to Michigan he did not want to find state Democrats "carving each other up."

Perhaps more of Johnson the man and politician showed through as he waited in the Detroit Civic Center to receive an honorary degree during his January visit.

He joked with bystanders during the robing ceremonies, shook hands with all who walked up to him, leaning forward (he's taller than most men) to catch their names and hear what they had to say.

He posed smilingly for pictures with various citizens.

Johnson, who has a politician's ability to remember names and faces, chatted with a reporter who had known him in Texas. And, as he walked away toward the auditorium platform, he tossed out a traditional Southern parting:

"Next time you're down our way, be sure and drop by."

Finding The Way
This Is Thanksgiving

By RALPH W. LOEW, D. D.

● THANKSGIVING is humility. To be thankful is to have the grace to recognize that there is much that no man can do for himself. There is a wonderful description of St. Paul, who, met by friends while on his way to Rome, thanked God and took courage. "The grace of gratitude is the mark of true greatness."

● THANKSGIVING is awareness. It is Jesse Stuart's description of his father: "He was one who had a world of his own, larger and richer than the vast earth that travelers know. He found more beauty in his acres and square miles than poets who have written a half dozen books. Only, my father couldn't write down the words to express his thoughts. He was a poet who never left a line of poetry — except to those of us who lived with him."

● THANKSGIVING is sharing. Emily Dickinson's father once saw a radiant sunset. So he rang the village fire bell and, when everyone came running, he pointed to the beauty they were missing. Gratitude "rings the bell" for someone and shares the beauty.

● THANKSGIVING is vocation. The finest stewardship is to give because we've been grateful. To know this is to have a sense of belonging. It is knowing that this is the job you're called to do — and you're grateful. As Paul Tillich once wrote, "Joy is nothing else than the awareness of our being fulfilled in our true being, in our personal center. And this fulfillment is possible only if we unite ourselves with what others really are."

● THANKSGIVING is involvement. To be grateful is to say "Thank You" to someone, or to look beyond self to others. And always to know that "it is a good thing to give thanks unto the Lord."

Thanksgiving is a social word. True gratitude breaks through selfish isolation into the dedication of what we have and what we are in terms of others.

● THANKSGIVING is the sense of wonder. Happy is that person who has hidden great sections of wonder and beauty in his mind. Blessed is the person who has something worth remembering. Life has a way of surprising us, many times without warning. Then we suddenly discover what we actually believe, what we actually know, what we actually can say.

● THANKSGIVING is a sense of joy, even in the difficult days. Listen to an ancient word for these modern times. "Live together in peace, help the weak and be patient with all men. Be sure that no one repays a bad turn by a bad turn; good should be your objective always, among yourselves and in the world at large. Be happy in your faith at all times. Never stop praying. Be thankful, whatever the circumstances may be."

Mrs. Barbeau
Taken By Death

Mrs. Helen Barbeau, 82, well-known Rapid River and Ensign resident, died at her home on the Whitefish Hill at 3 a.m. today.

Mrs. Barbeau was born Sept. 15, 1880 in Egg Harbor, and had lived most of her life in this area. Her husband, Andrew, died in 1961.

She was a member of St. Charles Church, the Women's Catholic Order of Foresters and of the Altar Society.

Surviving is one son, Meddie of Rapid River.

The body was taken to the Skradski Funeral Home where friends may call after 2 p.m. Monday. The Rosary will be recited at 8 p.m.

Funeral services will be conducted at 10 a.m. Tuesday from St. Charles Church in Rapid River with Father John Suhr officiating. Burial will be in the Rapid River Cemetery.

House of the Week

For Suburbia Or Lakeside

CONTEMPORARY STYLING: A free and uncluttered exterior facade is in perfect harmony with the open floor plan of this elegant little two or three bedroom home. The breezeway between house and garage could be screened or enclosed if desired.

This stylish little ranch type home was designed especially for modest sized families with modest sized incomes, but its contemporary design and straightforward room arrangement make it ideal for two other uses as well.

The house would make an excellent second home—a lakeside or mountain retreat suitable for any time of year and any type of climate. Or it would be ideal for retirement; not so large it would burden a housekeeper, but with plenty of room when the grandchildren come to visit.

A key feature of the design is an optional wall which would convert it from a two-bedroom to a three-bedroom home. If a master bedroom and a small second bedroom is all that a family requires, the wall still could be built and the additional room converted into a den.

The house is design H-4 in FLOOR PLAN: The basic area of this house is a modest 1,100 square feet. Optional wall divides the two family bedrooms, or else designates one of the rooms as a den. Basement is located beneath the entire living area of the house.

the weekly series, a product of architect William G. Chirgottis. Its basic area is 1,100 square feet not counting the breezeway and garage; dimensions are 32'10" deep by 50'4" wide including the 14' breezeway, and the angled garage projects another 16'.

The architect's treatment of the garage and breezeway deserve special mention. The breezeway is at the level of the main floor, a few steps above grade level, and can be screened or enclosed as an extension of the living area.

Placed at an angle, the garage adds interest to the contemporary facade of the house, becoming a part of the design rather than merely an appendage.

Additional Details

main entry foyer and a side service entrance only a few steps away. An excellent feature and fine example of Chirgottis' space-saving skill is the kitchen serving counter. It provides handy access to the dining room, gives additional countertop work area, and can be used as a built-in breakfast bar.

Another benefit of the open serving counter is that it permits a view of the backyard directly across the living room. The front yard, of course, is visible through the window above the double sink.

The bedroom area is nicely laid out with an abundance of closet space, excellent ventilation and just enough hall space to permit easy circulation.

The house contains a full basement—but it isn't just another dreary cellar; far from it. This basement has sliding glass windows above grade level, allowing plenty of natural light and air so that it becomes, in effect, bonus living area. The area can be developed to the owner's taste for recreation, storage and laundry facilities.

The garage is single - car width, but it also has built-in storage space because of its extra length. A separate door at the rear is handy for putting away garden tools, lawn chairs and the like.

Owning House Is Advantage

AP Newsfeatures

Every year, thousands of houses are sold to persons who never before owned their homes. The buyers include newlyweds, those who wait until they have saved enough money to make sizeable down payments, those whose expanding families force them to find more spacious quarters and, in some cases, retirement couples who have spent all their married lives in apartments.

There are many solid advantages to owning a home. But one thing a home owner discovers is that he must learn to do certain things himself. He can't call up the superintendent when something goes wrong. In an emergency, he has to make his own decisions on what should be done and sometimes carry it out himself.

It's easy enough to telephone for a repair specialist. But even if money had no bearing on the situation, which it does for most persons, telephoning for aid and getting it in a hurry is another matter. As almost everyone who owns a house can tell you, you can't always get a repair man right away, especially if you need him over a weekend. And it is over a weekend when, sad to relate, so many house troubles have a curious way of occurring.

One way to avoid serious trouble in this area is to learn a little something about your house. If you know the location of the shut-off water valves for instance, you can prevent a leak from turning into a flood. It's a good idea not only to know which valves handle which water lines, but to mark them with tags so that other members of the family will know, too. If there is a leak, shutting off the proper valve will stop the water from doing further damage and yet not interfere with the movement of water to other parts of the house.

Silence Those Water Pipes

AP Newsfeatures

Don't let the water pipes in your home talk back to you. Even if the chattering, hammering or rumbling doesn't annoy you (which would make you an unusual individual), the noise is a symptom of trouble that should be corrected before it becomes expensive serious.

One of the most common of the plumbing sounds is that which occurs when a faucet is turned on part way. A chattering or vibration of the pipes usually means that something is wrong with the faucet itself. Another possibility is that one of the pipe hangers, which support the run of pipe at various intervals along its length, has come loose.

Replacement of the washer at the end of the faucet spindle will correct the condition most of the time. If the screw that holds the washer in place is broken or corroded, replace it at the same time. In severe cases, the entire spindle must be replaced. Since there are many different types of spindles, take the old one to the hardware store to be sure you get the proper kind. Before you go, be sure no one else in the household turns on the water, which you necessarily turned off to make the repair.

Where inadequate pipe support is the trouble, the hanger or strap must be refastened or replaced. There's no magic way to find at which point the pipe has come loose from its support. You'll just have to search along whatever studs and beams are visible until you make the discovery.

Another common noise is the distinct hammering that occurs when a faucet is shut off suddenly. This means that the plumbing system needs one or more air chambers or shock absorbers on the line, in which case you will need a plumber to make the installation, especially if your local code forbids such work by the home owner. However, if one of these devices already is attached to the existing lines, it may be that it has become clogged with water and thus has lost its value. In that event, a complete draining of all the water lines in the house may correct the condition.

A kind of rumbling noise sometimes takes place in the hot water lines. This may call for the changing of the pipe hook-up near the hot water heater or it may simply require cutting down the heater thermostat to 140 degrees or, at the most, 160 degrees.

Mackie Backs Scenic Route

LANSING (AP) — Highway Commissioner John Mackie says a 400-mile scenic highway along Michigan's Lake Superior shoreline is necessary to growth of the Upper Peninsula's tourist industry.

Mackie said he fully endorses a proposal by Sen. Philip Hart, D-Mich., for a federal scenic highway program of which the Lake Superior highway could be a part.

"It offers us our best hope of financing this and other scenic shoreline routes in Michigan," said Mackie. "Sen. Hart's proposal for a national scenic highway would do as much for Michigan as the freeway construction program has done for the economy of the larger cities in southern Michigan," he added.

The scenic routes, like the interstate freeways, would be built with funds shared by the state and federal governments.

Mackie said a lack of funds has delayed the beginning of construction on some 650 miles of proposed shoreline highways in the state.

The plans are based on a 1960 survey showing some 650 miles of scenic Great Lakes shoreline highways could be built for about $100 million.

Mother And Son Are Found Dead

NEW YORK (AP) — A police entry of "homicide - suicide" was the tragic epitaph of a devoted mother and her retarded son.

The world in which Mrs. Rose Cohen had lived since 1926, when her son Israel was born, began to cave in last Wednesday when her husband, Benjamin, became seriously ill.

He was taken to a hospital for tests to determine if his illness is cancer.

Within hours after he was taken away, police said, Mrs. Cohen suffocated her son with a plastic bag then killed herself with sleeping pills.

A married daughter found the bodies of mother and son locked in an embrace in their Bronx apartment Thursday.

The father was not immediately told of the tragedy.

Home Designed For Relaxing

AP Newsfeatures

A great many American families have become two-home families, so many in fact that one versatile interior decorator, Ellen McCluskey, has designed three homes based on that theme for the National Decoration and Design Show. Easier transportation facilities to shore, mountain and other vacation spots have put the American family in the mood to have one home for serious family living and the other for complete relaxation, she says.

"And something to keep in mind in furnishing that second home is that nobody wants to work around the house any more than they must to keep up appearances. Everything must be bought for easy maintenance," she advises.

The kitchen in the new home, as she illustrates in one display, will not be for slave labor. It will be a gourmet deal, a place where the homeowners will have fun experimenting with new recipes, properly chilled wines, entertainment for guests. Miss McCluskey has put snail dishes, spice shelves, decorative casseroles around accessories. It is a kitchen where prettiness is on display, she points out.

The cabinets are covered in a brown and gray wood vinyl with a brown cane pattern on white vinyl on back splashes and walls. The floor is black tile. There is a small television set, a mirror for a face-check before the company gong sounds, director - style chairs with canvas seats.

A dining pavilion off the kitchen is recessed and glass enclosed. The banquette style seating arrangement is pillows with backs and seats in gray vinyl; the floor is a gray marble chip. Small vinyl-topped tables are placed around for dining.

The wall is upholstered with moldings with a gray baroque scroll pattern that separates parrots of gray, brown and black on a white background.

"I have gone away from color in this room because people do not need so much color in the second house. They are likely to wear colors so vivid that they can supply all the color themselves," Miss McCluskey says.

Another second-home dining room has a trellis and a fountain with flowers and is done in a sophisticated black and white, "a color scheme which is always fashionable in clothes, should have the same understated effect in the home," she says.

The rear wall is glass behind which is an illuminated tropical garden giving the room its only color. Two white side-walls are fronted with a black trellis. A black lacquer dining table is round with a pedestal base and Louis XIII dining chairs are covered in a black and white Provincial print. The white floor has an octagonal border which repeats the fabric design which was photographed and reproduced in vinyl to achieve the effect.

For a young couple who have a little beach or country house, Miss McCluskey chooses a rainbow look that is easy to maintain.

Two walls are wormy chestnut; one wall is covered with blue vinyl. The floor is a blue travertine vinyl. Venetian blinds are blue and lighted from behind. Two chairs are covered in a pink cotton, a wingchair and bench in a carnival stripe of pink, green, red blue and white. Tapes on the venetian blinds have been made from the same fabric to give a multicolor effect all the way. Random-length bookshelves hold Mexican objects, photographs and various objects d'art. There are primitive paintings on wood, a reproduction antique clock and other paintings on the wormy chestnut wall.

More people get more news from newspapers than from all other sources combined.

Oral Vaccine Gave Him Polio, Educator Claims

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Dr. Paul O. Ritcher, 53, head of the entomology department at Oregon State University, filed a $1-million damage suit Thursday against a manufacturer and a distributor of Sabin oral vaccine, type III.

Ritcher contends in the suit that taking the vaccine caused him to contract polio.

The suit names Charles Pfizer & Co. as manufacturer of the vaccine. Northwest Drug Co., a Washington state firm, was named distributor.

Ritcher said he took the vaccine orally at Corvallis, Ore., June 7, 1962.

House of the Week

For Suburbia Or Lakeside

CONTEMPORARY STYLING: A free and uncluttered exterior facade is in perfect harmony with the open floor plan of this elegant little two or three bedroom home. The breezeway between house and garage could be screened or enclosed if desired.

This stylish little ranch type home was designed especially for modest sized families with modest sized incomes, but its contemporary design and straightforward room arrangement make it ideal for two other uses as well.

The house would make an excellent second home—a lakeside or mountain retreat suitable for any time of year and any type of climate. Or it would be ideal for retirement; not so large it would burden a housekeeper, but with plenty of room when the grandchildren come to visit.

A key feature of the design is an optional wall which would convert it from a two-bedroom to a three-bedroom home. If a master bedroom and a small second bedroom are all that a family requires, the wall still could be built and the additional room converted into a den.

The house is design H-4 in

The architect's treatment of the garage and breezeway deserve special mention. The breezeway is at the level of the main floor, a few steps above grade level, and can be screened or enclosed as an extension of the living area.

Placed at an angle, the garage adds interest to the contemporary facade of the house, becoming a part of the design rather than merely an appendage.

Ann Landers

They Look Alike

Dear Ann Landers: This past summer we spent three weeks at a lake resort. Our 17-year-old daughter Camille became infatuated with a young man from Scranton whose family had rented the cottage next to ours. Toward the end of the vacation they were together 18 hours a day.

Now that the love-birds are apart they are burning up the mails. He goes to school at Penn State so naturally she wants to go there next fall.

So what's the problem? Camille is adopted and so is the young man. They look so much alike it is frightening. What if these two are brother and sister?

I haven't mentioned this possibility to Camille but both my husband and I are deeply concerned. Advise us, please. —Q. F. J.

Dear Q. F. J. The origin of adopted children can be checked by your attorney through the agency which arranged for the adoption. I suggest you discuss this situation with the boy's parents and compare reports.

It's a million to one shot that these two are related but the possibility should be investigated, for your own peace of mind.

Dear Ann Landers: Please set a friend of mine straight. She is a nut who insists that daily dips in a certain brook near her home have cured her backaches.

She tells everyone that last year at this time her back ached so badly she could hardly do her housework. She wore a special corset and took three kinds of medicine. Finally her back got so bad she couldn't get a night's sleep, even with pills.

This spring she decided to

Jacqueline Dippong, Carl Shedore Wed

Jacqueline Marie Dippong, daughter of Joseph Dippong, 1242 W. Nelson St., and Mrs. Bertha Arndt, 5129 W. Henderson, Chicago, and Carl Shedore, son of Mrs. Lillian Shedore of 1508 W. Byron, Chicago, former resident of Escanaba, were married today at St. Andrew's Church.

Father Giezadlo performed the 10 a. m. double ring ceremony and celebrated the Nuptial Mass, at an altar decorated with white gladioli. The church choir sang "Ave Maria" at the Offertory and "On This Day" as the bride placed an all-white bouquet on the altar of the Blessed Virgin.

The bride's floor length gown of pure silk organza with appliques of reembodyered Alencon lace, had a scalloped Sabrina neckline, tapered sleeves and bouffant skirt, formed of deep tiers of ruffled lace. Her fingertip veil of pure silk French illusion was caught to a crown of lace with sequin and pearl trim. She carried pink sweetheart roses and white feathered carnations with trailing ivy. Her single strand of pearls and earrings were the bridegroom's gift.

Bride's Attendants

Kathleen Dippong was her sister's honor maid. Her sky blue floor length dress was styled with a square neckline, short sleeves and bell shaped skirt with a back bow. A crown with blue veiling, matching shoes and white gloves completed her attire. Her bouquet was of all white carnations with light pink centers. Identical costumes of royal blue were worn by the bridesmaids, and the carnations in their bouquets had deep pink centers. They were Mrs. Carol Cooper of Escanaba, Kathleen Budinger and Linda Budinger, nieces of the bridegroom, and Ruth Barton. The honor attendant and bridesmaids wore single strands of pearls, gift of the bride.

Little Susan Jean Shedore, niece of the bridegroom, as flower girl, was attired in a white floor length frock of tiered lace over taffeta and she carried a miniature basket holding white feathered carnations and pink sweetheart roses. The bride's cousin, Richard Berg, carried the rings on a white satin pillow.

Mr. Shedore's best man was Leroy Cooper of Escanaba. Groomsman were James McDonough, Escanaba Rte. 1, Richard Budinger, Tommy Cannon and James Tomczanski, Franklin Park. Ushers were John and Joseph Shedore, brothers of the bridegroom.

Mrs. Carl Beck, grandmother of the bride, chose a royal blue wool crepe sheath and Mrs. Shedore wore a sheath of deep blue nylon lace over taffeta.

DON'T OVERDRESS

If you are not sure about how dressy an occasion is to be underdressed. You'll be a lot safer than if you show up in finery and stand alone in your glory.

PLEATS ARE BACK

Pleated skirts have made a comeback this year. You'll find them in wool and crepe for daytime wear and in soft wool jersey for evening.

LINT DISPENSER

Corduroys and blue jeans often collect lint during the washing. You can avoid this annoyance by adding half a cup of vinegar to the wash water.

COIFFURES AND NOSES

Your hair style can accentuate or detract from a large or long nose. Select a coiffure that sweeps up and back and avoid middle parts.

SLIM TREAT

Dieting can be pleasant. In most cases, cutting down on caloric intake melts off the pounds gradually. And, this gradual loss is the most permanent. You may eat the foods you like; just take smaller portions, or substitute foods. For example, an average slice of two-layer chocolate cake has 350 calories while an average slice of angel food cake has 150. But, always consult your doctor before you diet.

Area Residents Recall Seeing John Kennedy

The many saddened by the death of President John F. Kennedy include four from Manistique who attended the land and people conference at which he spoke two months ago in Duluth.

Said Leonard Walters, one of the four:

"It's certainly a shame. Like one lady said to me, 'I'm ashamed we have people like that in this country! And he was so young. It would be different if he was old. It's hard to believe. At the conference we saw him twice in the lobby. I told my kids afterwards, your life isn't your own when your president. He had secret service men in front, behind and all around him. Still in his enthusiasm he'd break out and shake hands with people. He looked like an all American boy with that shock of hair. We also saw him at the breakfast and heard him speak at the University of Minnesota."

Making the trip last fall with Walters were Robert Leny, Schoolcraft Road Commissioner, Dean Rhoads, county extension director, and Lindsay Frenette. Both Frenette and Walters serve on the county board of supervisors.

Numerous persons wept when they heard the news. In Manistique harbor, where a crew chief of the Kaho was conferring with a reporter, a staffer walked in and said: "I hear they shot our Mr. Kennedy."

The radio was switched on quickly for the reports, asking prayer and stand-by for further news.

When official word was announced of the death, a crew member limply took out a flag, went on deck, raised it, then lowered it to half mast. It had been taken in due to rain.

MANISTIQUE

Research Boat Back; Good Chub Catches Noted

The U.S. Fish and Wildlife research vessel, Kaho arrived Thursday night in Manistique harbor for two days exploratory trawling for alewife and chubs.

She will be working in the same area as that used by the Louella Mae owned by Robert and Louis Ruleau of Cedar River, who arrived earlier for trawl fishing.

The trip of the Kaho is the third this year. She arrived after a trial run on Lake Superior to try trawls and seines for lake herring in Whitefish Bay. The vessel was not able to find herring concentrated in areas where the search was made.

Bigger Volume

Heading the expedition here is M. R. Greenwood, base director of the exploratory fishing branch for this region. One more cruise is scheduled for Lower Michigan in December before tie-up at Saugatuck.

Assessment is being made of the fish available for commercial use with different types of equipment, Greenwood explains. The operation is concerned with aiding the fishing industry in becoming more economically successful. Just as farmers need to produce more food per unit of effort to be successful, so must fisherman also enlarge scope of their operations to stay competitive, he stated.

Trawling has been successful in the southern part of Lake Michigan. This method permits year-around catches of alewife, for the pet food industry, instead of only in spawning season, as with pound nets. The Kaho has often caught a ton or more in a half hour drag with a Gulf of Mexico type net. The funnel-shaped trawl covers an area 35 feet wide and up to eight feet in height.

The price per pound for this type of fish is low so volume and efficiency in handling gear and fish are important factors in success. Small chubs, which once went exclusively to mink producers now also are sent to the pet food market. There is an abundant population of small chubs in Lake Michigan, Greenwood states.

Rice Farm Project — The seasonal investigation on the Great Lakes began in 1958. Thus far work has covered only Lakes Erie and Michigan. The regional exploratory fishing and gear research operation Greenwood heads covers 14 states and parts of two others, on the Great Lakes and Mississippi River drainage areas.

Interesting projects include rice-farm production of fish in the two fallow years which follow two rice crops in Arkansas. Buffalo fish and channel catfish are the chief species produced here. In South Dakota at Oahe reservoir, created for hydroelectric power and flood control, a project was initiated this fall and production of Lake Erie type trap nets have shown that there are lots of fish there, Greenwood reports.

The Mississippi River drainage system has about 5200 square miles of major reservoir surface area, equivalent

Eighth Graders Prepare Meals In Guest Program

Pleasant evenings for 26 townspeople were provided by the 35 eighth grade home economics students of Mrs. Carl Makel, Manistique High School in a pre-Thanksgiving program.

The students divided into "family" groups and planned and prepared a meal, for which they invited guests. Part of the group entertained Wednesday night and part of Thursday night.

The project included planning the menu, ordering necessary groceries and creation of their own table decor. Guests were delighted; found the students were good cooks—welcome to practice on them anytime.

Emerald Gridders Will Be Honored

The Rotary club will not meet Monday noon, and instead will meet at 6:30 p. m., Monday for the annual football banquet.

Varsity gridders and their coaching staff will be honored at the dinner in Liberty banquet hall.

The speaker will be Bill Kelly, coach at Central Michigan University. The team physician, Dr. C. F. Anderson, a former Manistique Rotarian will accompany him.

to over half the size of Lake Erie. The reservoirs are apparently better producers of fish than the Great Lakes, due to temperature and nutrient conditions.

For example, a typical reservoir is expected to yield 250 pounds per surface acre annually, as compared to the best commercial yield on Lake Michigan of under two pounds per surface acre. Some farm ponds, on the other hand, produce 1500 pounds per year.

Trawling Success — Fish are an important natural resource never fully assessed, making uniform management and full utilization difficult. More information is needed, as evidenced by variations in fish laws of states fronting on the Great Lakes, Greenwood observes.

The Kaho made a trip here in July and another in September. After the September run, it reported two good catches containing exceptional proportions of large chubs were made off Manistique at 20 and 25 fathoms. Trawlable grounds in generous amounts have been found in both Green Bay and northern Lake Michigan, in certain areas.

Trawling makes it possible to follow alewife into deeper waters, instead of confining operations to pound nets in shallow inshore waters. Commercial trawlers have been accomplishing this objective in Southern Michigan since 1959, with the season extended thus from a few weeks to nine or ten months. This extension of production provides considerable advantage in handling and storing the catch for processors who operate at sustained yield levels throughout the year.

Community Bus Group Plans Session Dec. 12

A second meeting in studying a proposal for a community bus is scheduled Dec. 12 and Edwin E. Wuehle, Manistique school superintendent has been named chairman of the study group. At a meeting Thursday night at the high school, pros and cons of the proposal were considered, along with legal aspects.

The group has asked Wuehle to obtain cost data, Mrs. Foster Cain information on methods of obtaining revenue for it, Samuel Gesko, legal information, and Richard Bonifas, a plan of policies and regulations for its use.

In discussions it was noted the basic need for the bus is in the school system, for transportation of students to athletic, musical and other events. However, if the title is with the school district, it is limited by law in use only for its own students.

Township districts, which provide the buses which bring rural students to the high school receive repeated requests from non-profit but non-school groups for use of them.

The community bus is an effort to provide transportation for these other groups, such as the Lancer Drum and Bugle Corps, Jobs Daughters and Scouts without violating school code and at minimum cost. Incorporation as a non-profit group would be possible, for creation of a legal entity for ownership of the bus, it was reported.

Child Book Week
The 45th annual celebration of National Children's book week Nov. 10-16 proved successful at Manistique school and public library. The theme "Three Cheers for Books" appropos for the week's activities. Mrs. Jack Williams' eighth grade English class, the first and second graders of Mrs. Victor DeHaas, the 5th, 6th, 7th and 8th grades from Doyle school and their teacher Allen Yoder, and Girl Scout troop 10 with leaders Mrs. John Strable and Mrs. James Slining were among visitors. The climax was a story hour attended by 91. Several new borrowers were registered during the week, and many books marks were distributed.

Area Residents Recall Seeing John Kennedy

The many saddened by the death of President John F. Kennedy include four from Manistique who attended the land and people conference at which he spoke two months ago in Duluth.

Said Leonard Walters, one of the four:

"It's certainly a shame. Like one lady said to me, 'I'm ashamed we have people like that in this country! And he was so young. It would be different if he was old. It's hard to believe. At the conference we saw him twice in the lobby. I told my kids afterwards, your life isn't your own when your president. He had secret service men in front, behind and all around him. Still in his enthusiasm he'd break out and shake hands with people. He looked like an all American boy with that shock of hair. We also saw him at the breakfast and heard him speak at the University of Minnesota."

Making the trip last fall with Walters were Robert Leny, Schoolcraft Road Commissioner, Dean Rhoads, county extension director, and Lindsay Frenette. Both Frenette and Walters serve on the county board of supervisors.

Numerous persons wept when they heard the news. In Manistique harbor, where a crew chief of the Kaho was conferring with a reporter, a staffer walked in and said: "I hear they shot our Mr. Kennedy."

The radio was switched on quickly for the reports, asking prayer and stand-by for further news.

When official word was announced of the death, a crew member limply took out a flag, went on deck, raised it, then lowered it to half mast. It had been taken in due to rain.

MANISTIQUE

Research Boat Back; Good Chub Catches Noted

The U.S. Fish and Wildlife research vessel, Kaho arrived Thursday night in Manistique harbor for two days exploratory trawling for alewife and chubs.

She will be working in the same area as that used by the Louella Mae owned by Robert and Louis Ruleau of Cedar River, who arrived earlier for trawl fishing.

The trip of the Kaho is the third this year. She arrived after a trial run on Lake Superior to try trawls and seines for lake herring in Whitefish Bay. The vessel was not able to find herring concentrated in areas where the search was made.

Bigger Volume

Heading the expedition here is M. R. Greenwood, base director of the exploratory fishing branch for this region. One more cruise is scheduled for Lower Michigan in December before tie-up at Saugatuck.

Assessment is being made of the fish available for commercial use with different types of equipment, Greenwood explains. The operation is concerned with aiding the fishing industry in becoming more economically successful. Just as farmers need to produce more food per unit of effort to be successful, so must fisherman also enlarge scope of their operations to stay competitive, he stated.

Trawling has been successful in the southern part of Lake Michigan. This method permits year-around catches of alewife, for the pet food industry, instead of only in spawning season, as with pound nets. The Kaho has often caught a ton or more in a half hour drag with a Gulf of Mexico type net. The funnel-shaped trawl covers an area 35 feet wide and up to eight feet in height.

The price per pound for this type of fish is low so volume and efficiency in handling gear and fish are important factors in success. Small chubs, which once went exclusively to mink producers now also are sent to the pet food market. There is an abundant population of small chubs in Lake Michigan, Greenwood states.

Rice Farm Project

The seasonal investigation on the Great Lakes began in 1958. Thus far work has covered only Lakes Erie and Michigan. The regional exploratory fishing and gear research operation Greenwood heads covers 14 states and parts of two others, on the Great Lakes and Mississippi River drainage areas.

Interesting projects include rice-farm production of fish in the two fallow years which follow two rice crops in Arkansas. Buffalo fish and channel catfish are the chief species produced here. In South Dakota at Oahe reservoir, created for hydroelectric power and flood control, a project was initiated this fall and production of Lake Erie type trap nets have shown that there are lots of fish there," Greenwood reports.

The Mississippi River drainage system has about 5200 square miles of major reservoir surface area, equivalent

Eighth Graders Prepare Meals In Guest Program

Pleasant evenings for 26 townspeople were provided by the 35 eighth grade home economics students of Mrs. Carl Makel, Manistique High School in a pre-Thanksgiving program.

The students divided into "family" groups and planned and prepared a meal, for which they invited guests. Part of the group entertained Wednesday night and part of Thursday night.

The project included planning the menu, ordering necessary groceries and creation of their own table decor. Guests were delighted; found the students were good cooks—welcome to practice on them anytime.

Emerald Gridders Will Be Honored

The Rotary club will not meet Monday noon, and instead will meet at 6:30 p. m., Monday for the annual football banquet.

Varsity gridders and their coaching staff will be honored at the dinner in Liberty banquet hall.

The speaker will be Bill Kelly, coach at Central Michigan University. The team physician, Dr. C. F. Anderson, a former Manistique Rotarian will accompany him.

to over half the size of Lake Erie. The reservoirs are apparently better producers of fish than the Great Lakes, due to temperature and nutrient conditions.

For example, a typical reservoir is expected to yield 250 pounds per surface acre annually, as compared to the best commercial yield on Lake Michigan of under two pounds per surface acre. Some farm ponds, on the other hand, produce 1500 pounds per acre.

Trawling Success

Fish are an important natural resource never fully assessed, making uniform management and full utilization difficult. More information is needed, as evidenced by variations in fish laws of states fronting on the Great Lakes, Greenwood observes.

The Kaho made a trip here in July and another in September. After the September run, it reported two good catches containing exceptional proportions of large chubs were made off Manistique at 20 and 25 fathoms. Trawlable grounds in generous amounts have been found in both Green Bay and northern Lake Michigan, in certain areas.

Trawling makes it possible to follow alewife into deeper waters, instead of confining operations to pound nets in shallow inshore waters. Commercial trawlers have been accomplishing this objective in Southern Michigan since 1959, with the season extended thus from a few weeks to nine or ten months. This extension of production provides considerable advantage in handling and storing the catch for processors who operate at sustained yield levels throughout the year.

Community Bus Group Plans Session Dec. 12

A second meeting in studying a proposal for a community bus is scheduled Dec. 12 and Edwin E. Wuehle, Manistique school superintendent has been named chairman of the study group. At a meeting Thursday night at the high school, pros and cons of the proposal were considered, along with legal aspects.

The group has asked Wuehle to obtain cost data, Mrs. Foster Cain information on methods of obtaining revenue for it, Samuel Gesko, legal information, and Richard Bonifas, a plan of policies and regulations for its use.

In discussions it was noted the basic need for the bus is in the school system, for transportation of students to athletic, musical and other events. However, if the title is with the school district, it is limited by law in use only for its own students.

Township districts, which provide the buses which bring rural students to the high school receive repeated requests from non-profit but non-school groups for use of them.

The community bus is an effort to provide transportation for these other groups, such as the Lancer Drum and Bugle Corps, Jobs Daughters and Scouts without violating school code and at minimum cost. Incorporation as a non-profit group would be possible, for creation of a legal entity for ownership of the bus, it was reported.

Bernard Now Certified Flight Instructor Here

Marquette's Free Throws Turn Back Eskymos 67-60

The Marquette Redmen turned the free throw line into a major offensive weapon here Friday night in a 67-60 Great Lakes Conference triumph over the Escanaba Eskymos.

Out-gunned from the field 27 goals to 24, Coach Fred Taccolini's cagers turned the tide for their second straight victory of the season by pouring 19 of 31 attempts from the charity line.

Coach Harold Johnson's Eskymos failed to match Marquette's free throw accuracy. They had 20 opportunities and missed 14 of them, including a number of first shots on one-and-one situations late in the contest.

The Eskymos more than held their own with the highly regarded Redmen through most of the action at the new Escanaba gymnasium. They opened scoring on a free throw by Jerry Hanson and led 12-11 at the end of the first period.

Marquette spurred shortly before the half to grab a 31-30 cushion at the intermission.

The Redmen picked up the pace in the third period to lead by as much as seven points but the Eskymos rallied to hit six quick points in the closing minute to cut the deficit to 49-48 entering the fourth quarter. Jim Clairmont, Dave Boileau and Bill Eis connected on the comeback buckets.

A three-point play by Bruce

Forstrom, Marquette's 6 foot, 6 inch center, pulled the Redmen ahead 57-52 midway in the final period and the Eskymos were never able to narrow the gap under four points in the stretch.

Marquette scored the final three points in the game in the closing seconds to spread a 64-60 margin.

Forstrom led the Redmen in their final drive, scoring nine points in the final period. The big southpaw, held to two points in the first period by Wally Schultz, came on strong through the remainder of the game and finished with 27 points on eight field goals and 11 free throws. Two other Redmen tallied in double figures.

Two speedy guards carried the brunt of the Eskymo attack. Eis set the pace with nine field goals and a free throw for 19 points and Hanson had 18.

Eis was a standout on defense as well as offense. He harried Marquette dribblers, intercepted passes and forced the Redmen into a half dozen floor faults.

Marquette won the jayvee preliminary game 57-56 in overtime.

The Eskymos will return to action with their first road trip of the season Saturday, Nov. 30, at Munising.

No Television Of Grid Slate

NEW YORK (AP) — The American Football League announced Friday night that it was postponing all four of its Sunday games because of the assassination of President Kennedy.

The National Football League said it planned to go ahead with its full program of seven games.

None of the NFL games will be telecast, however.

Earlier Friday, the Buffalo at Boston game in the AFL had been postponed but the league said it planned to go ahead with the other three.

The two television networks had announced that it would not telecast any of the Sunday games in both the AFL and NFL. ABC handles the AFL games while CBS telecasts the NFL games.

An AFL spokesman said that the postponed games would be rescheduled within two days.

The games postponed were Buffalo at Boston, Kansas City at New York, Oakland at Denver and Houston at San Diego.

The NFL program includes Baltimore at Los Angeles, Chicago at Pittsburgh, Dallas at Cleveland, Detroit at Minnesota, St. Louis at New York, San Francisco vs. Green Bay at Milwaukee, and Washington at Philadelphia.

Giants Face Injury Jinx

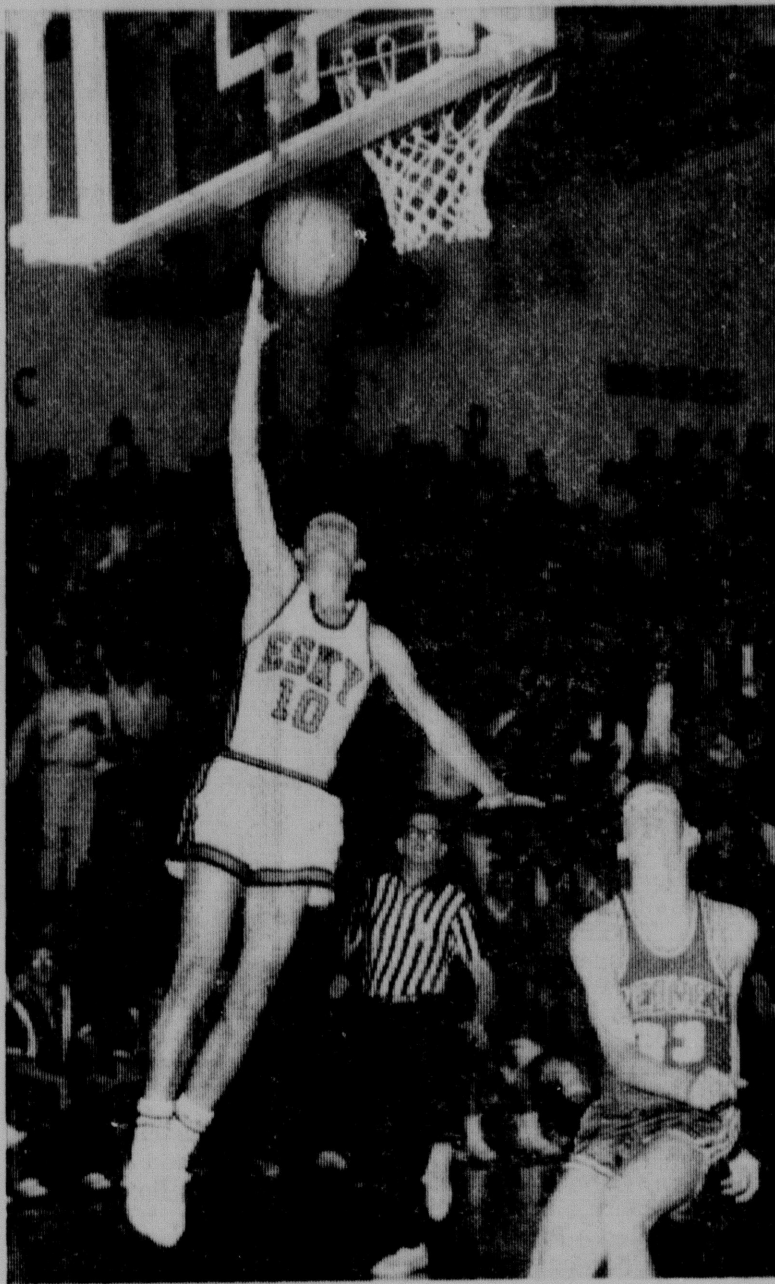

NEW YORK (AP) — Dick Lynch and Allan Webb of the New York Giants defensive backfield are doubtful starters and fullback Alex Webster is out of Sunday's important National Football League game with the St. Louis Cardinals.

Loss of two key men in the vital pass defense umbrella could be costly to the Giants, who must contain Charley Johnson's aerial barrage.

Leading the Eastern Conference of the NFL by one game with St. Louis and Cleveland tied for second, the Giants will have another sellout crowd of 62,000 plus at Yankee Stadium.

Lynch, knocked out in last Sunday's game with San Francisco, suffered a concussion and still is a bit woozy. His place probably will be taken by Dick Pesonen, who gets the job of playing Sonny Randle. Webb still is not at top speed due to a leg injury. Eddie Dove probably will replace him. Webster's job goes to Joe Morrison, who played there last week.

Four members of the 1963 Harvard soccer squad are Africans; three from Nigeria and one from Ghana.

BILL EIS was the outstanding individual player in the Escanaba lineup in the game against Marquette here Friday night. In the action picture above, Eis drives in for a dog shot after stealing the ball from a Marquette dribbler at mid-court. Eis, mixing drives and outside shots, tallied nine field goals and a free throw for 19 points to lead his mates in the scoring column. Marquette won the game 67-60. (Daily Press Photo)

Blue Devils Defeat Manistique Cagers

MANISTIQUE — The Soo Blue Devils lived up to advance notice here Friday night with a 65-56 victory over Manistique in their first game of the season.

The Great Lakes Conference football champs served notice on the league's basketball powers that they will be a strong contender for cage honors in the GLC.

Coach Clair Wilhelm's Blue Devils broke a tight game open in the final two minutes of action to hand the Emeralds their first setback of the campaign.

Coach Rudie Brandstrom's cagers opened the scoring when Tom Brawley clicked on a free throw early in the game but the Blue Devils pulled out to an 18-15 lead by the end of the first quarter.

Both teams had a good second stanza and Soo took a 39-35 lead into the halftime intermission.

The Emeralds made their bid in the third frame and outscored the visitors 14 to 10. Ken Blowers hit a field goal to tie the score at 49-49 at the close of the third quarter.

Blowers connected again to open the final period, giving the Emeralds a 51-49 lead, their first since the opening minute of action.

Soo regained the lead and held a slim edge until the two-minute mark when Jody Kline, a 5-11 forward, took command of the scoring. Kline clicked for six points in the final quarter in which the Blue Devils outscored the Emeralds 16 to 7.

Kline finished with 16 points as one of four Soo players in double figures. Dennis Porter, 6-5 pivotman, set the pace with 17 while Tom Gagnon added 14 and Pete Williamson 10. Tom Payment completed the Soo scoring with eight points.

Manistique had a balanced scoring output headed by Brawley with 16 points. Blowers added 12 and Jim McDonough and Jon Cameron 11 each. Eric Blomquist tallied four.

Blomquist drew his third

Povolo Hits 36 As Hermansville Beats Florence

HERMANSVILLE — The home fans got a look at Coach Don Hill's Hermansville Redskins for the first time last night and liked what they saw.

The Redskins fashioned their second straight Big Eight Conference victory by downing the Florence Bobcats 77-65.

Ron (The Bomb) Povolo continued his hot scoring hand, burning the nets with 36 points on 13 field goals and 10 free throws.

Povolo, a deadeye junior, now has 70 points in his first two starts.

The teams jockeyed for position through the first three periods before the Redskins put the clamps on the game in the fourth quarter.

Florence closed a torrid first period with a 23-22 lead but Hermansville roared back to grab a 41-32 edge at the half. Florence rallied to regain the lead, 56-55, entering the final stanza.

Povolo provided the spark as the Redskins outscored the Bobcats 21-10 in the fourth period. He hit seven points and was aided by Dan Vincent and Dick Gordon with five each.

Accuracy from the free throw line paid off for the Redskins. Both teams scored 29 field goals but Hermansville's cagers converted 19 of 31 gift shots while the Bobcats settled for 7 of 17 from the foul line.

Following Povolo in the Hermansville scoring department was lefty Harry Gordon with 15 points.

Four Florence players reached double figures, led by Vince Trudell with 19 points.

The Redskins jayvees copied the preliminary game 50-46.

Hermansville returns to action in a home stand against Felch Friday, Nov. 29.

Eben Downs Broncs 78-45

EBEN — Coach Jim Drew's Eben Eagles chalked up their third straight Central League triumph here Friday night by downing the Bark River-Harris Broncos 78-45.

A steady parade to the foul line paid off as the Eagles converted 32 of 51 gift opportunities. The personal fouls killed any chance the Broncos had for an upset. They committed 36 fouls and five players fouled out of the game.

Bark River's Jan Bruce took individual scoring honors for the night with 22 points.

Eben had all five starters in double figures with Bill Carlson setting the pace on 17 points.

Newberry Opens Season By Defeating Munising

NEWBERRY — Coach Art Allen's Newberry Indians shook off the first game jitters in the second half here last night to snare a 51-45 Great Lakes Conference triumph over the Munising Mustangs.

The tall Indians took a 12-9 lead in the first period and then skidded to a three-point production in the second to trail 24-15 at halftime.

Newberry's balanced attack jelled in the third period and the Indians wiped out their deficit to lead 34-32 entering the final quarter. They maintained the pace down the stretch in spite of the loss of two starters on personal fouls.

Newberry used its height to dominate the boards but the Mustangs parlayed speed and a tight defense to make a game of it.

The Indians outscored Munising 21 goals to 16 but made only nine of 22 free throws. The Mustangs converted 13 of 25 from the foul line.

The Indians were paced in the point department by their 6 foot 6 inch performers, John Hendrickson with 17 and Jerry Hunter 13.

Munising won the jayvee preliminary game.

Newberry returns to action with a road trip to Negaunee Wednesday, Nov. 27.

Marquette's Free Throws Turn Back Eskymos 67-60

The Marquette Redmen turned the free throw line into a major offensive weapon here Friday night in a 67-60 Great Lakes Conference triumph over the Escanaba Eskymos.

Out-gunned from the field 27 goals to 24, Coach Fred Taccolini's cagers turned the tide for their second straight victory of the season by pouring 19 of 31 attempts from the charity line.

Coach Harold Johnson's Eskymos failed to match Marquette's free throw accuracy. They had 20 opportunities and missed 14 of them, including a number of first shots on one-and-one situations late in the contest.

The Eskymos more than held their own with the highly regarded Redmen through most of the action at the new Escanaba gymnasium. They opened scoring on a free throw by Jerry Hanson and led 12-11 at the end of the first period.

Marquette spurred shortly before the half to grab a 31-20 cushion at the intermission. The Redmen picked up the pace in the third period to lead by as much as seven points but the Eskymos rallied to hit six quick points in the closing minute to cut the deficit to 49-48 entering the fourth quarter. Jim Clairmont, Dave Boileau and Bill Eis connected on the comeback buckets.

A three-point play by Bruce Forstrom, Marquette's 6 foot, 6 inch center, pulled the Redmen ahead 57-52 midway in the final period and the Eskymos were never able to narrow the gap under four points in the stretch.

Marquette scored the final three points in the game in the closing seconds to spread a 64-60 margin.

Forstrom led the Redmen in their final drive, scoring nine points in the final period. The big southpaw, held to two points in the first period by Wally Schultz, came on strong through the remainder of the game and finished with 27 points on eight field goals and 11 free throws. Two other Redmen tallied in double figures.

Two speedy guards carried the brunt of the Eskymo attack. Eis set the pace with nine field goals and a free throw for 19 points and Hanson had 18.

Eis was a standout on defense as well as offense. He harried Marquette dribblers, intercepted passes and forced the Redmen into a half dozen floor faults.

Marquette won the jayvee preliminary game 57-56 in overtime.

The Eskymos will return to action with their first road trip of the season Saturday, Nov. 30, at Munising.

Povolo Hits 36 As Hermansville Beats Florence

HERMANSVILLE — The home fans got a look at Coach Don Hill's Hermansville Redskins for the first time last night and liked what they saw.

The Redskins fashioned their second straight Big Eight Conference victory by downing the Florence Bobcats 77-65.

Ron (The Bomb) Povolo continued his hot scoring hand, burning the nets with 36 points on 13 field goals and 10 free throws.

Povolo, a deadeye junior, now has 70 points in his first two starts.

The teams jockeyed for position through the first three periods before the Redskins put the clamps on the game in the fourth quarter.

Florence closed a torrid first period with a 23-22 lead but Hermansville roared back to grab a 41-32 edge at the half. Florence rallied to regain the lead, 56-55, entering the final stanza.

Povolo provided the spark as the Redskins outscored the Bobcats 21-10 in the fourth period. He hit seven points and was aided by Dan Vincent and Dick Gordon with five each.

Accuracy from the free throw line paid off for the Redskins. Both teams scored 29 field goals but Hermansville's cagers converted 19 of 31 gift shots while the Bobcats settled for 7 of 17 from the foul line.

Following Povolo in the Hermansville scoring department was lefty Harry Gordon with 15 points.

Four Florence players reached double figures, led by Vince Trudell with 19 points.

The Redskins jayvees copped the preliminary game 50-48.

Hermansville returns to action in a home stand against Felch Friday, Nov. 29.

Eben Downs Broncos 78-45

EBEN — Coach Jim Drew's Eben Eagles chalked up their third straight Central League triumph here Friday night by downing the Bark River-Harris Broncos 78-45.

A steady parade to the foul line paid off as the Eagles converted 32 of 51 gift opportunities. The personal fouls killed any chance the Broncos had for an upset. They committed 36 fouls and five players fouled out of the game.

Bark River's Jan Bruce took individual scoring honors for the night with 22 points.

Blue Devils Defeat Manistique Cagers

MANISTIQUE — The Soo Blue Devils lived up to advance notice here Friday night with a 65-56 victory over Manistique in their first game of the season.

The Great Lakes Conference football champs served notice on the league's basketball powers that they will be a strong contender for cage honors in the GLC.

Coach Clair Wilhelm's Blue Devils broke a tight game open in the final two minutes of action to hand the Emeralds their first setback of the campaign.

Coach Rudie Brandstrom's cagers opened the scoring when Tom Brawley clicked on a free throw early in the game but the Blue Devils pulled out to an 18-15 lead by the end of the first quarter.

Both teams had a good second stanza and Soo took a 39-25 lead into the halftime intermission.

The Emeralds made their bid in the third frame and outscored the visitors 14 to 10. Ken Blowers hit a field goal to tie the score at 49-49 at the close of the third quarter.

Blowers connected again to open the final period, giving the Emeralds a 51-49 lead, their first since the opening minute of action.

Soo regained the lead and held a slim edge until the two-minute mark when Jody Kline, a 5-11 forward, took command of the scoring. Kline clicked for six points in the final quarter in which the Blue Devils outscored the Emeralds 16 to 7.

Kline finished with 16 points as one of four Soo players in double figures. Dennis Porter, 6-5 pivotman, set the pace with 17 while Tom Gagnon added 14 and Pete Williamson 10. Tom Payment completed the Soo scoring with eight points.

Manistique had a balanced scoring output headed by Brawley with 16 points. Blowers added 12 and Jim McDonough and Jon Cameron 11 each. Eric Blomquist tallied four.

Blomquist drew his third personal foul in the first period and his fifth in the third quarter.

Manistique won the jayvee preliminary game 49-38.

No Television Of Grid Slate

NEW YORK (AP) — The American Football League announced Friday night that it was postponing all four of its Sunday games because of the assassination of President Kennedy.

The National Football League said it planned to go ahead with its full program of seven games.

None of the NFL games will be telecast, however.

Earlier Friday, the Buffalo at Boston game in the AFL had been postponed but the league said it planned to go ahead with the other three.

The two television networks had announced that it would not telecast any of the Sunday games in both the AFL and NFL. ABC handles the AFL games while CBS telecasts the NFL games.

An AFL spokesman said that the postponed games would be rescheduled within two days.

The games postponed were Buffalo at Boston, Kansas City at New York, Oakland at Denver and Houston at San Diego.

The NFL program includes Baltimore at Los Angeles, Chicago at Pittsburgh, Dallas at Cleveland, Detroit at Minnesota, St. Louis at New York, San Francisco vs. Green Bay at Milwaukee, and Washington at Philadelphia.

Giants Face Injury Jinx

NEW YORK (AP) — Dick Lynch and Allan Webb of the New York Giants defensive backfield are doubtful starters and fullback Alex Webster is out of Sunday's important National Football League game with the St. Louis Cardinals.

Loss of two key men in the vital pass defense umbrella could be costly to the Giants, who must contain Charley Johnson's aerial barrage.

Leading the Eastern Conference of the NFL by one game with St. Louis and Cleveland tied for second, the Giants will have another sellout crowd of 62,000 plus at Yankee Stadium.

Lynch, knocked out in last Sunday's game with San Francisco, suffered a concussion and still is a bit woozy. His place probably will be taken by Dick Pesonen, who gets the job of playing Sonny Randle. Webb still is not at top speed due to a leg injury. Eddie Dove probably will replace him. Webster's job goes to Joe Morrison, who played there last week.

Four members of the 1963 Harvard soccer squad are Africans; three from Nigeria and one from Ghana.

Harvard - Yale Game Cut Off By President's Death

By The Associated Press

The traditional football game between Harvard, alma mater of President Kennedy, and Yale was called off Friday as news of his assassination swept a horrified nation.

Harvard and Yale were to have played the 80th game in the most historic and hallowed of all the nation's traditional football series in New Haven, Conn. Saturday.

A spokesman for Harvard, where Kennedy once competed as a member of the swimming team, said the game was cancelled and added, "It probably will not be rescheduled."

A joint announcement at Yale said only that it would "not take place this weekend."

A reliable source later said that the game probably will be rescheduled for Nov. 30.

The game was one of hundreds of athletic events scheduled this weekend either postponed or cancelled.

Tracks Shut Down

Major Eastern race tracks shut down immediately on the announcement of the President's death. The National Basketball Association postponed its entire four-game Friday slates as did the American Hockey League. A Friday night fight between Allen Thomas of Chicago and Johnny Persol of New York, scheduled for national television coverage from Madison Square Garden, was cancelled.

Dozens of major college football games scheduled Saturday were called off, including the entire Big Six schedule on the West Coast, which could have determined the host team in the Rose Bowl. The three-game slate was rescheduled for Nov. 30.

The National Collegiate Athletic Association, through executive secretary Walter Byers, left it to the colleges involved as to whether to continue with their games, but asked that if the games are played they include "an appropriate, dignified opening ceremony and whatever other memorial tribute you might think appropriate at half-time."

Will Play Today

The Illinois-Michigan State game, which will determine the Big Ten representative in the Rose Bowl on New Year's Day, will go on as scheduled.

So will the Oklahoma-Nebraska game, scheduled in Lincoln, Neb. The winner all but clinches the Big Eight spot in the Orange Bowl.

Three Southwest Conference games also were to proceed as scheduled.

Generally, it appeared that most professional athletics scheduled Friday had been postponed or cancelled, but that the schedule would be resumed Saturday. The colleges were divided, though most of the Saturday

Sports World Is Stunned By Murder Of President

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Most of the country's major college football games—including the tradition-bound Harvard-Yale clash—were cancelled or postponed today as the nation mourned the death of President Kennedy.

Of the games that were played, which included the bowl-deciding Oklahoma at Nebraska and Illinois at Michigan State games, most scheduled halftime memorial services instead of the usual band display.

The National Collegiate Athletic Association, through executive secretary Walter Byers, left it to the colleges involved to cancel, postpone or play their games as they saw fit.

"Whereas the decision rests with your institution and your opponent, it is our view that you should plan to proceed with your contest with an appropriate, dignified opening ceremony and whatever other memorial tribute you might think appropriate at halftime," Byers said Friday. There was a long period of confusion and conflicting reports as a number of schools first announced they would play, then later decided to cancel or postpone.

In the end, most either cancelled or delayed their games for a week.

One of the first to be called off was the scheduled visit of Harvard, where Kennedy once competed as a member of the varsity swimming team, to Yale for their 80th meeting.

In a joint statement, presidents Nathan M. Pusey of Harvard and Kingman Brewster Jr. of Yale said:

"Out of respect for the memory of the late President of the United States, we have decided that athletic and social activities between Harvard and Yale universities which were scheduled for New Haven shall not take place this weekend."

NFL Grid Games Will Be Played; AFL Postpones

By The Associated Press

The National Football League planned today to go ahead with its full slate of seven Sunday games while the American League postponed its weekend schedule following the assassination of President Kennedy.

The AFL announced Friday night that the four games scheduled Sunday had been postponed. A league spokesman said they would be rescheduled later.

Television on all pro games was canceled by the networks.

The American League first announced that only the visit of Buffalo to Boston, the President's home town, would be postponed. Later the league postponed the others, Kansas City at New York, Oakland at Denver and Houston at San Diego.

Earlier, the two television networks had announced they would not telecast any Sunday games. ABC handles the AFL and CBS telecasts the NFL games.

Key NFL clashes include Chicago at Pittsburgh and St. Louis at New York in the East.

Chicago leads the West at 9-1 and, in Pittsburgh, faces the last major obstacle on its way to the conference title. The rest of the teams on the Bear schedule have losing records.

Pittsburgh, at 6-3-1, is still in contention in the East, but must keep on winning to remain in the running.

New York, winner of five straight, leads the East with an 8-2 mark. St. Louis is tied with Cleveland for second, each at 7-3. The Giants beat the Cards 38-21 earlier in the season and are favored to do it again despite injuries to the defensive backfield.

Cleveland, loser of three of its last four and now 7-3, will try to keep pace with a home game against Dallas, 3-7.

In the others, San Francisco, 2-4, plays Green Bay, second in the West at 8-2, in Milwaukee; Baltimore, 5-5, is at Los Angeles, 3-7; and Washington, 2-8, at Philadelphia, 2-7-1.

Two Big College Games Still On Tap For Today

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Editor

The assassination of President Kennedy stunned the sports world Friday. The national tragedy caused postponements of scores of major events.

Nevertheless the Illinois at Michigan State and Oklahoma expected to go to the Rose Bowl and Orange Bowl, respectively.

Gov. George Romney of Michigan asked that the Illinois-Michigan State, as well as another Big Ten game—Ohio State at Michigan—be postponed but officials at the two Michigan schools decided to go ahead.

"We feel that it is in the best national interests and tradition to carry on," MSU and Michigan officials said in a statement, "feeling that in so doing we are carrying out the wishes of our late President whose deep interest and concern for the physical training and welfare of our youth is so widely known."

Nebraska's Board of Regents said it is "deeply sorrowful about the death of President Kennedy" but the board "believes that the people of Nebraska-Oklahoma want the game played as scheduled."

Jack McClellan, Drake athletic director, announced that the Iowa State at Drake game will be played Saturday "unless national developments make it improper to hold the game."

In this same note, the Notre Dame at Iowa game will be played Saturday along with the following:

Texas Tech at Arkansas, Southern Methodist at Baylor, Rice at Texas Christian, New Mexico at Arizona, Idaho at Arizona State, Utah at Utah State, Colorado State Univ. at Brigham Young, Louisiana State at Tulane, Xavier, Ohio, at Bowling Green, Miami, Ohio, at Cincinnati, Louisville at Houston, George Washington at Vanderbilt, Florida at Miami, Fla., Florida State at Auburn, Wofford at Davidson, Temple at Gettysburg, Delaware at Bucknell, Ohio Univ. at Marshall, Tennessee at Kentucky.

Cross Country
Event Monday

EAST LANSING (AP)—Strong team and individual entries from the West Coast again will be testing eastern entries in the 25th annual running of the NCAA Cross Country Championship at Michigan State University Monday.

San Jose State, defending team champ, will be challenged by Notre Dame, the winner of the IC4A run.

Others putting in strong bids for team title honors will include Kansas, the Big Eight and Central Collegiate champ; Mid-America champion Western Michigan, third last year; Villanova, the runner-up in the NCAA in 1962, and host team Michigan State, the Big Ten titlist.

Sports World Is Stunned By Murder Of President

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Most of the country's major college football games—including the tradition-bound Harvard-Yale clash—were cancelled or postponed today as the nation mourned the death of President Kennedy.

Of the games that were played, which included the bowl-deciding Oklahoma at Nebraska and Illinois at Michigan State games, most scheduled halftime memorial services instead of the usual band display.

The National Collegiate Athletic Association, through executive secretary Walter Byers, left it to the colleges involved to cancel, postpone or play their games as they saw fit.

"Whereas the decision rests with your institution and your opponent, it is our view that you should plan to proceed with your contest with an appropriate, dignified opening ceremony and whatever other memorial tribute you might think appropriate at halftime," Byers said Friday. There was a long period of confusion and conflicting reports as a number of schools first announced they would play, then later decided to cancel or postpone.

In the end, most either cancelled or delayed their games for a week.

One of the first to be called off was the scheduled visit of Harvard, where Kennedy once competed as a member of the varsity swimming team, to Yale for their 80th meeting.

In a joint statement, presidents Nathan M. Pusey of Harvard and Kingman Brewster Jr. of Yale said:

"Out of respect for the memory of the late President of the United States, we have decided that athletic and social activities between Harvard and Yale universities which were scheduled for New Haven shall not take place this weekend."

Scenic Highways Can Bring Boom

By KENNETH S. LOWE

The proposed Lake Superior international highway and Pictured Rocks National Lakeshore "could well be the greatest economic boon to the Upper Peninsula since the discovery of iron and copper in this area more than 100 years ago," according to State Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie.

That appraisal was made in a speech prepared for delivery by Mackie at a luncheon in Marquette Thursday commemorating the opening of the new Marquette bypass of U. S. 41-M 28 to traffic.

The speech was read by Julius J. Becker, Lansing, assistant-chief engineer for the State Highway Department.

"One of the highlights of our present five-year program in the Upper Peninsula is the start of construction on a scenic highway along the southern shore of Lake Superior," it was stated in the Mackie text.

"We plan to let contracts in 1966 for construction of a scenic highway from Brimley near Sault Ste. Marie west to M 123, a distance of 30 miles.

"Several years ago, we made a survey of desirable Great Lakes scenic shoreline routes. The plan developed at that time calls for construction of about 650 miles of new scenic shoreline routes. The total cost of these routes is estimated at about $100 million.

"The three longest scenic routes are in the Upper Peninsula.

"The only thing holding us up on the entire program—is money.

"I believe the only way we are going to develop a network of scenic shoreline highways will be with the full financial support of the Federal Government."

Mackie said U. S. Sen. Philip A. Hart of Michigan is making an attempt to get the Michigan scenic highway program "off the drawing board."

Discussing the Marquette bypass, he said cost of the 1.9-mile, four-lane divided highway "was fairly high—more than $900,000 per mile.

"But it will reduce travel time through Marquette by 15 to 20 minutes.

Tragic Texas News Is Heard Around World

WASHINGTON (AP)—The tragic flash from Dallas reverberated around the world like a clap of thunder: The young vigorous President of the United States was dead at the hands of an assassin, and everywhere the great and the lowly mourned John F. Kennedy's passing.

The deadening shock gave way to tears and then to universal heartache for Jacqueline Kennedy and her two young children. Rich and poor, black and white, shuddered and were bewildered.

Messages of condolence poured into the White House from presidents, premiers and crowned heads. Churches filled with people come to pray and sob.

Crowds At White House

"This is a sad time for all people," the new President, Lyndon B. Johnson, told the nation on his return to Washington. "We have suffered a loss that cannot be weighed."

During the early morning hours in Moscow, Premier Khrushchev dressed in black, drove to the U.S. Embassy to personally convey his "deep sadness" on the assassination of the President. Khrushchev and his wife, Nina, sent telegrams of condolences to Mrs. Kennedy.

In New Haven, Conn., a citizen said with a catch in his voice: "I felt as if he was my brother. But he was more than that—he was our President."

Washington was struck as if by a bombshell. The government stopped dead in its tracks. Crowds gathered outside the iron picket fence in front of the President's home long after night fell. Telephone service was paralyzed for a time and flags—foreign banners at embassies as well as the Stars and Stripes—were lowered to half staff.

Russian Girl Weeps

Pubs in London and cafes in Paris fell silent. In Moscow a Russian girl walked weeping along the street. In Vatican City Pope Paul VI prayed for the soul of the dead President.

Scars of past political strife were forgotten as old foes joined with old allies and the three living former presidents in a unity of grief.

Richard M. Nixon, who lost the presidency to Kennedy in New York: "The assassination in 1960 in a razor-thin race, said in of the President is a terrible tragedy for the nation. Mrs. Nixon and I have sent a personal message expressing our deepest sympathy to the members of the family in this hour of sorrow."

Another old political opponent, Republican Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona, considered by many the front-runner in the race for the 1964 GOP presidential nomination, learned of Kennedy's death at a Chicago airport and telephoned his Washington office: "The President's death is a profound loss to the nation and the free world."

Body Washed Up, May Be Clue In Lake Erie Crash

WEST LORNE, Ont. (AP)—A man's body, washed up on the Canadian shore of Lake Erie Friday, may provide the first clue to the Nov. 2 disappearance of three Detroit area men.

The three disappeared in a light plane in which they were flying from Detroit to Buffalo, N.Y., for a bridge tournament.

The body, found by fishermen on a beach near Patrick Point—which is approximately opposite Cleveland—has not been identified. Police said it may be that of William M. Flashenberg, 32, of Detroit or William A. Nazario, 31, of suburban Ferndale.

They said it did not answer the description of William S. Mouser, 51, of Detroit.

Constable L. E. Doolittle of Dutton, Ont., Provincial Police post said examination of the body indicated the man may have been in a plane crash.

assassin began almost before the echo of the tragic, history-altering shots had died away.

The bullets sent Kennedy slumping forward, unconscious, at about 12:30 p.m., CST. At 1 p.m., the President was dead in an emergency room at Dallas Parkland Hospital. Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson automatically assumed the powers of president.

Kennedy apparently had no chance.

"We never expected to save his life," said one doctor. "He was too grievously wounded. We just did what we could."

At least eight physicians crowded into the emergency room and gave the President blood transfusions and oxygen.

The frantic but vain efforts of the medical experts also included heart massage and surgery to cut a hole in Kennedy's windpipe—with the hope of easing his labored breathing.

Police were certain that the assassin's shots were fired from the fifth floor of the Texas School Depository, an aging brick building on the western fringe of the business district where a private firm stores, buys and sells school textbooks.

The bullets traveled about 100 yards at a 45-degree angle.

James W. Altgens, Associated Press photographer, said the President's head soon was bathed in blood.

Speeded To Hospital

As the dying President slumped forward, his wife, Jacqueline, reached for her husband, uttering a desperate and pathetic, "Oh, no!"

A Secret Service agent threw himself, spread-eagled, over the rear seat of the big blue car—protecting with his body the two wounded men.

The motorcade stopped momentarily. Then William Greer, Kennedy's Secret Service driver, tramped on the accelerator and whipped the car forward—to get out of range of the gunman and to race for Parkland Hospital.

Kennedy never regained consciousness. Two priests were hastily summoned to give the last rites to the nation's first Roman Catholic president.

At about the time Kennedy died, policeman J.D. Tippett was shot fatally in Oak Cliff, some four miles from where the President had been fatally wounded.

Minutes later, police were tipped a suspicious-looking man had been seen entering the Texas Theater and a squad of police quickly surrounded the little movie house.

They brought Oswald out after a fight and he was charged, hours later, with Tippett's slaying. An eyewitness told police Oswald shot Tippett, who had apparently stopped the dishonorably discharged ex-Marine for questioning. No one knows what caused the officer to want to question Oswald.

Rifle Found

On the fifth floor of the school depository where Oswald worked, police found a foreign-made rifle with telescopic sight, partly hidden behind a stack of books. Spent cartridges and scraps of fried chicken were scattered about.

Most people who heard the fatal shots thought they sounded like giant firecrackers. Only when Kennedy and Connally slumped in their seats and Mrs. Kennedy cried out did they realize they had been witnesses to a tragic piece of history.

At that point, some who had been watching the progress of the presidential motorcade threw themselves to the ground, face down, to seek protection from further gunfire.

The shots came as the Kennedys and the Connallys drove out of the business district where massed thousands, standing 10 and 12 deep along the curbs, had cheered.

As the limousine approached a triple underpass, heading for a new expressway that was to lead Kennedy to a luncheon speaking date, the wife of the Texas governor turned to him and remarked:

"You can't say Dallas isn't friendly today."

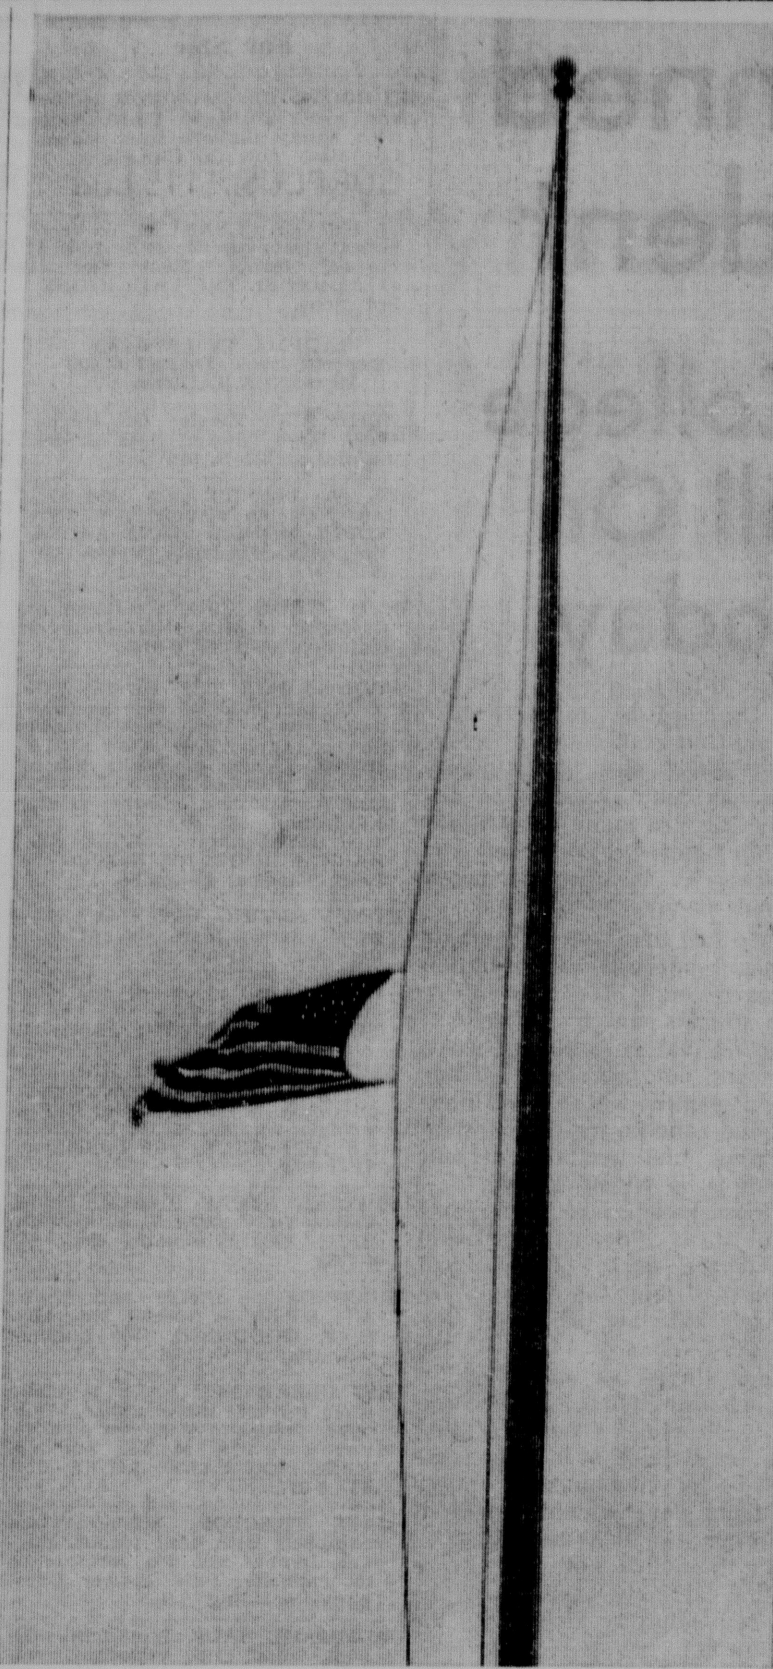

He was shot before he could reply.

Mrs. Connally's comment was based on the fact at Dallas has voted Republican in recent years and has become widely regarded as a center of conservative thought.

Alumni Rally

MARQUETTE — A Northern Michigan University Alumni Rally has been planned for Saturday evening, Nov. 30, in Lansing following the Northern Michigan - Michigan State University basketball game. All NMU alumni and friends of Northern are invited to attend the rally in the Mackinac Room of the Capitol Park Motor Hotel, Lansing.

On hand to greet the alumni and guests will be Dr. Edgar L. Harden, NMU president, Stan Albeck, basketball coach at NMU, and Tom Peters, NMU director of alumni relations.

erners are scheduled to arrive.

The diplomatic corps will follow between 5 and 6 p.m.

Cardinal Cushing, who will say the funeral Mass, is a longtime friend of the Kennedy family, gave the invocation at the President's inauguration, officiated at his marriage, baptized the two Kennedy children, and presided at the funeral Mass for Patrick Bouvier Kennedy, the first family's son who died within 40 hours after birth last August.

EVERY 20 YEARS

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy's death Friday continues the coincidence that presidents elected at 20 year intervals in zero-numbered years die in office.

The list includes: 1840—William Henry Harrison 1860—Abraham Lincoln 1880—James A. Garfield 1900—William McKinley 1920—Warren G. Harding 1940—Franklin D. Roosevelt 1960—John F. Kennedy

Roosevelt did not die in the third term to which he was elected in 1940 but during his fourth term.

Three of the previous presidents on the list were assassinated—Lincoln, Garfield and McKinley.

SHAPED U. S. POLICY

John Fitzgerald Kennedy, 35th president of the United States was deeply dedicated to social justice and to human dignity. In a world undergoing a population explosion and under the threat of Soviet Russia's determination to dominate, he shaped American policy to help solve these problems.

The most crucial moment of his administration was when it was revealed that Premier Khrushchev had created missile bases in Cuba only 90 miles from the United States. President Kennedy demanded their removal and won.

The legislative highlights of his administration included: Increase in the minimum wage from $1 an hour to $1.25. Social Security benefit increases.

Adoption of a $600 million aid program for Latin America and creation of the Alliance for Progress.

Passage of the Trade Expansion Act which gave the President powers to cut tariffs.

Tax revision to give business credits for new equipment.

Adoption of the Congressional resolution to oppose by arms, if necessary, Communist infiltration in the Western Hemisphere.

Congressional outlawing of the poll tax.

Establishment of a private corporation to develop, own and operate a communications satellite system.

President Kennedy, a multimillionaire, contributed his presidential salary of $100,000 annually to charity. He had a gross income of about $500,000—about $100,000 after taxes—from trust fund investments. He began his contribution of his government salaries to charity in 1947 when he entered college.

Carrying war wounds from his service as a PT boat commander in the Pacific theater of World War II, he exercised to remain fit despite a back injury.

After President Franklin D. Roosevelt's "New Deal" he offered America a "New Frontier" approach to national problems. During the campaign in which he was elected over Republican Richard M. Nixon he likened the U. S. to a great ship at anchor and said it should be sailing on to "new frontiers."

Religion was an issue in his campaign for the presidency. He was the first Catholic elected to the office. But his majority in popular votes was the smallest since Democrat Grover Cleveland won by only 62,683 in 1884.

His father, Joseph P. Kennedy, amassed a fortune that a 1957 survey by Fortune Magazine placed in the $200 to $400 million category.

'I Will Do My Best,' Says President Lyndon B. Johnson change to mourning clothes.

Walking to waiting microphones, Johnson read his statement: "This is a sad time for all people. We have suffered a loss that cannot be weighed. For me it is a deep personal tragedy.

"I will do my best. That is all I can do. I ask for your help—and God's."

Then he walked to a big, green helicopter which took off for the White House.

Landing on the White House south lawn, the new President took his wife's arm, walked slowly across the lawn and the rose garden. As he went he conferred with Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara and McGeorge Bundy, presidential assistant for national security.

Then, at the French doors to the oval office of the president, he paused a moment and walked through alone, stepping across a historic threshold to massive responsibilities.

Leaders Changed For 3 Powers

WASHINGTON (AP)—Lyndon B. Johnson's succession to the presidency brought the third change in leadership among major Western powers in a little more than a month.

On Oct. 16, aging Konrad Adenauer stepped down as chancellor of West Germany and was succeeded by Ludwig Erhard.

On Oct. 19, ailing British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan was succeeded by Sir Alec Douglas-Home.

Escanaba Will Join In Prayers

Residents of the Escanaba area will join in the prayers of a nation for President John F. Kennedy.

In all churches of Protestant denomination special prayers will be part of Sunday services, the Rev. Walfred Nelson, president of Delta County Ministerial Association, has announced.

Memorial Requiem Masses will be offered Monday in many of the Catholic Churches, the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Martin B. Melican, head of the Escanaba Deanery, said today. The schedule is: St. Patrick's, 11 a. m.; St. Thomas are Apostle, 7:30 p. m.; St. Joseph's 8 a. m.; St. Anne's 6 p. m.; St. Anthony's Wells, time will be announced Sunday.

Father Thomas M. Andary of Holy Family Church, Flat Rock will celebrate the Memorial Mass on Thanksgiving Day at 8:30 a. m.

Workshop Series For Democratic Women's Club

Three additional holiday workshops have been held by the Delta County Democratic Women's Club in a series to prepare for the annual Holiday Sale to be held at Goodman's Drug Store Friday, Dec. 6.

One group met in Brampton at the home of Mrs. Irene Eagle and completed Barbie Doll clothes and fireplace matchbooks.

Three workshops were held simultaneously at the home of Mrs. Verna Murray with Helen Rouman, Marina Chapekis and Mrs. Murray, leaders, to prepare Christmas candy containers from coffee cans, napkin rings and decorated candles. The containers will be filled with cookies, candies and seasoned party mix for the sale.

The third workshop was at the home of Mrs. Rose Erlandson and members also decorated containers for holiday goodies and made Christmas tree skirts and Christmas corsages.

The next workshop is planned for Democratic women in the Brampton-Gladstone area at the home of Mrs. Donna Elliott, for preparation of household linens with liquid embroidery.

Police Dog Chip Helps Wrap Up $410 Theft Case

PRUDENVILLE (AP)—A state police dog named "Chip" helped wrap up a $410 theft here Friday.

The money was reported stolen from the Lola Bell Restaurant near this hamlet on the eastern shore of Houghton Lake.

Police arrested a 15-year-old Ohio boy who admitted the theft, but said he had ditched the money and couldn't remember where. Trooper Clare Helms and "Chip" were ordered to search the area. The dog sniffed out the loot, half buried along a nearby road.

The hostess will be Mrs. Glenn Hunter.

Sports Events Are Postponed

By The Associated Press

The sports world went into mourning for President Kennedy Friday by cancelling and postponing hundreds of events in every type of competition.

Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick summed up sports' reaction to the assassination of the young, sports-minded President when he said:

"We all feel a deep loss and at the same time a great sense of shame and unhappiness that this should happen in our country. We are all shocked and in sorrow."

"Shocked," was the word used by Pete Rozelle, Commissioner of the National Football League, and repeated everywhere in sports.

The Yale-Harvard game, which was to be played for the 80th time since 1875 was postponed or maybe cancelled.

In a joint statement issued at New Haven, the presidents of the two universities, Nathan M. Pusey of Harvard, and King-man Brewster Jr., of Yale said:

"Out of respect for the memory of the late President of the United States, we have decided that the athletic and social activities involving Harvard and Yale Universities which were scheduled shall not take place this weekend."

Sadness Voiced By Khrushchev

MOSCOW (AP)—Dressed in black, Premier Khrushchev drove to the U.S. Embassy today to personally convey his "deep sadness" on the assassination of President Kennedy.

The Soviet premier, accompanied by Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko, visited the embassy shortly after sending a telegram to President Johnson.

"The death of President Kennedy is a heavy blow to all people who cherish the cause of peace and Soviet - American cooperation," it said.

The telegram said the "heinous assassination of Kennedy" came at a time when there appeared signs of relaxation of international tension and a prospect has opened for improving relations between the U.S.S.R. and the United States."

Khrushchev and his wife, Nina, also sent telegrams to Mrs. Kennedy expressing their condolences at Kennedy's death.

Pastor Will Face Congregation At St. Patrick Mass

The Thanksgiving Day Mass at 9 a.m. at St. Patrick's Church will mark an innovation in the service, with the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Martin B. Melican, pastor, facing the people of the congregation.

Heretofore, the priest celebrating the Catholic Mass, has faced the altar during the greater part of worship.

The new form is being used to mark the end of the Centennial year, and is one that is being adopted more and more in churches throughout the country.

Gets Promotion

IRON RIVER — Robert R. Johnson, mine production engineer at the Homer-Wausica mine has been named district production engineer for the Michigan district of the Hanna Mining Co.

Johnson will begin his new duties Monday, according to Floyd H. Lee Michigan district general manager, who also announced a number of other personnel changes to take effect Monday.

Johnson, 37, succeeds James Clemens, who earlier this fall was named manager of the Missouri mines of the company.

Stock Exchange Closes Monday

NEW YORK (AP)—A spokesman for the New York Stock Exchange indicated today that the exchange would remain closed Monday because of the President's funeral.

He said other major exchanges would probably also remain closed.

The New York Stock Exchange presumably would reopen Tuesday, but there was no confirmation of this. Definite word on the exchange's plans was expected later today.

The American Stock Exchange halted trading shortly after, as did other markets.

"I believe the only way we are going to develop a network of scenic shoreline highways will be with the full financial support of the Federal Government."

Mackie said U. S. Sen. Philip A. Hart of Michigan is making an attempt to get the Michigan scenic highway program "off the drawing board."

Discussing the Marquette bypass, he said cost of the 1.9-mile, four-lane divided highway "was fairly high—more than $900,000 per mile.

"But it will reduce travel time through Marquette by 15 to 20 minutes.

Tragic Texas News Is Heard Around World

WASHINGTON (AP)—The tragic flash from Dallas reverberated around the world like a clap of thunder: The young vigorous President of the United States was dead at the hands of an assassin, and everywhere the great and the lowly mourned John F. Kennedy's passing.

The deadening shock gave way to tears and then to universal heartache for Jacqueline Kennedy and her two young children. Rich and poor, black and white, shuddered and were bewildered.

Messages of condolence poured into the White House from presidents, premiers and crowned heads. Churches filled with people come to pray and sob.

Crowds At White House

"This is a sad time for all people," the new President, Lyndon B. Johnson, told the nation on his return to Washington. "We have suffered a loss that cannot be weighed."

During the early morning hours in Moscow, Premier Khrushchev dressed in black, drove to the U.S. Embassy to personally convey his "deep sadness" on the assassination of the President. Khrushchev and his wife, Nina, sent telegrams of condolences to Mrs. Kennedy.

In New Haven, Conn., a citizen said with a catch in his voice: "I felt as if he was my brother. But he was more than that — he was our President."

Washington was struck as if by a bombshell. The government stopped dead in its tracks. Crowds gathered outside the iron picket fence in front of the President's home long after night fell. Telephone service was paralyzed for a time and flags — foreign banners at embassies as well as the Stars and Stripes — were lowered to half staff.

Russian Girl Weeps

Pubs in London and cafes in Paris fell silent. In Moscow a Russian girl walked weeping along the street. In Vatican City Pope Paul VI prayed for the soul of the dead President.

Scars of past political strife were forgotten as old foes joined with old allies and the three living former presidents in a unity of grief.

Richard M. Nixon, who lost the presidency to Kennedy in New York: "The assassination 1960 in a razor-thin race, said in of the President is a terrible tragedy for the nation. Mrs. Nixon and I have sent a personal message expressing our deepest sympathy to the members of the family in this hour of sorrow."

Another old political opponent, Republican Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona, considered by many the front-runner in the race for the 1964 GOP presidential nomination, learned of Kennedy's death at a Chicago airport and telephoned his Washington office: "The President's death is a profound loss to the nation and the free world."

WEST LORNE, Ont. (AP)—A man's body, washed up on the Canadian shore of Lake Erie Friday, may provide the first clue to the Nov. 2 disappearance of three Detroit area men.

The three disappeared in a light plane in which they were flying from Detroit to Buffalo, N.Y., for a bridge tournament.

The body, found by fishermen on a beach near Patrick Point—which is approximately opposite Cleveland—has not been identified. Police said it may be that of William M. Flashenberg, 52, of Detroit or William A. Nazario, 31, of suburban Ferndale.

They said it did not answer the description of William S. Mouser, 51, of Detroit.

Constable L. E. Doolittle of Dutton, Ont., Provincial Police post said examination of the body indicated the man may have been in a plane crash.

assassin began almost before the echo of the tragic, history-altering shots had died away.

The bullets sent Kennedy slumping forward, unconscious, at about 12:30 p.m., CST. At 1 p.m., the President was dead in an emergency room at Dallas Parkland Hospital. Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson automatically assumed the powers of president.

Kennedy apparently had no chance.

"We never expected to save his life," said one doctor. "He was too grievously wounded. We just did what we could."

At least eight physicians crowded into the emergency room and gave the President blood transfusions and oxygen. The frantic but vain efforts of the medical experts also included heart massage and surgery to cut a hole in Kennedy's windpipe — with the hope of easing his labored breathing.

Police were certain that the assassin's shots were fired from the fifth floor of the Texas School Depository, an aging brick building on the western fringe of the business district where a private firm stores, buys and sells school textbooks.

The bullets traveled about 100 yards at a 45-degree angle.

James W. Altgens, Associated Press photographer, said the President's head soon was bathed in blood.

Speeded To Hospital

As the dying President slumped forward, his wife, Jacqueline, reached for her husband, uttering a desperate and pathetic, "Oh, no!"

A Secret Service agent threw himself, spread-eagled, over the rear seat of the big blue car — protecting with his body the two wounded men.

The motorcade stopped momentarily. Then William Greer, Kennedy's Secret Service driver, tramped on the accelerator and whipped the car forward — to get out of range of the gunman and to race for Parkland Hospital.

Kennedy never regained consciousness. Two priests were hastily summoned to give the last rites to the nation's first Roman Catholic president.

At about the time Kennedy died, policeman J.D. Tippett was shot fatally in Oak Cliff, some four miles from where the President had been fatally wounded.

Minutes later, police were tipped a suspicious-looking man had been seen entering the Texas Theater and a squad of police quickly surrounded the little movie house.

They brought Oswald out after a fight and he was charged, hours later, with Tippett's slaying. An eyewitness told police Oswald shot Tippett, who had apparently stopped the dishonorably discharged ex-Marine for questioning. No one knows what caused the officer to want to question Oswald.

Rifle Found

On the fifth floor of the school depository where Oswald worked, police found a foreign-made rifle with telescopic sight, partly hidden behind a stack of books. Spent cartridges and scraps of fried chicken were scattered about.

Most people who heard the fatal shots thought they sounded like giant firecrackers. Only when Kennedy and Connally slumped in their seats and Mrs. Kennedy cried out did they realize they had been witnesses to a tragic piece of history.

At that point, some who had been watching the progress of the presidential motorcade threw themselves to the ground, face down, to seek protection from further gunfire.

The shots came as the Kennedys and the Connallys drove out of the business district where massed thousands, standing 10 and 12 deep along the curbs, had cheered.

As the limousine approached a triple underpass, heading for a new expressway that was to lead Kennedy to a luncheon speaking date, the wife of the Texas governor turned to him and remarked:

"You can't say Dallas isn't friendly today."

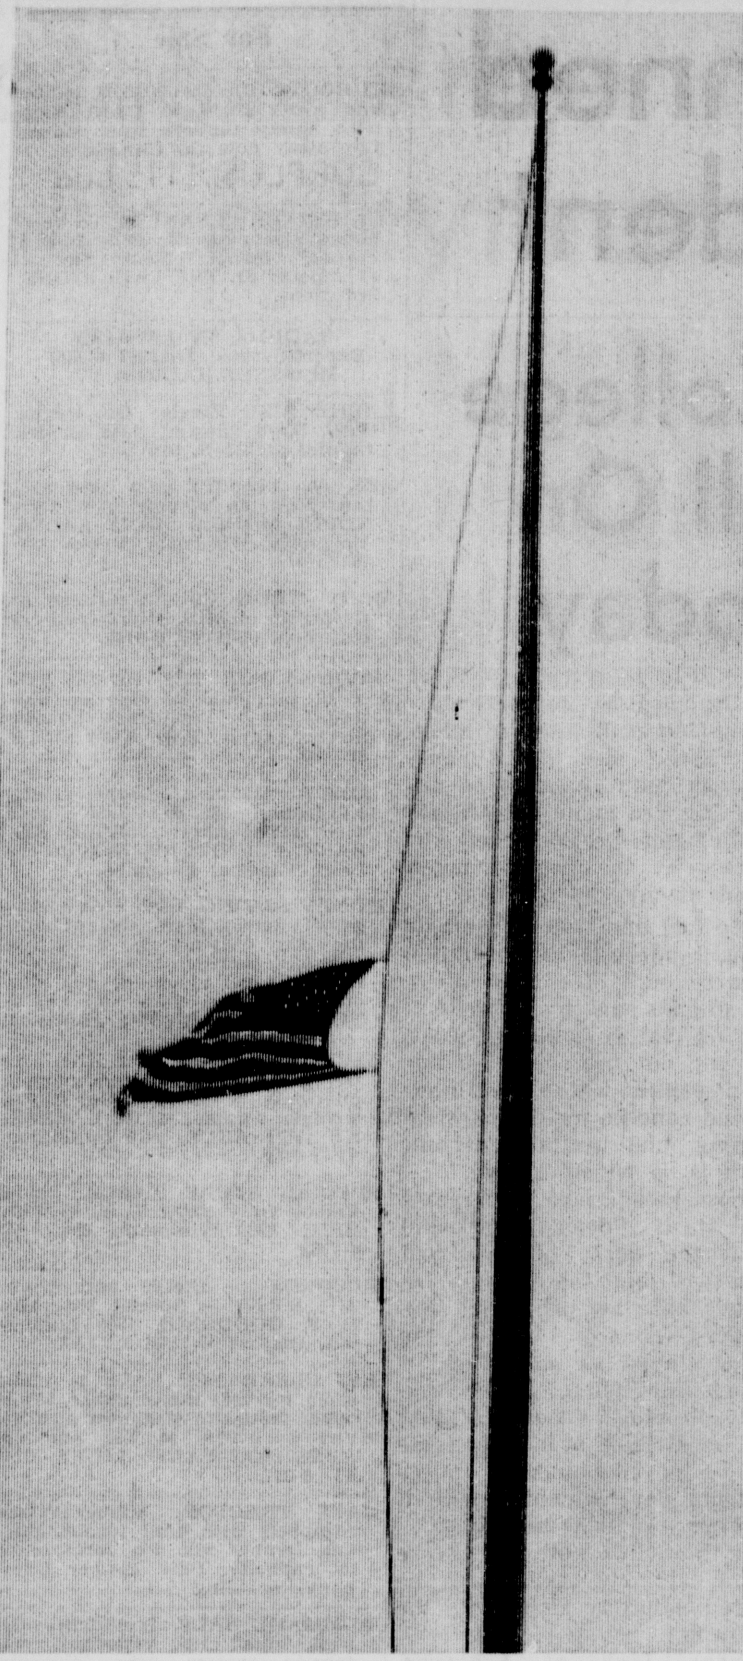

He was shot before he could reply.

Mrs. Connally's comment was based on the fact at Dallas has voted Republican in recent years and has become widely regarded as a center of conservative thought.

Alumni Rally

MARQUETTE — A Northern Michigan University Alumni Rally has been planned for Saturday evening, Nov. 30, in Lansing following the Northern Michigan - Michigan State University basketball game. All NMU alumni and friends of Northern are invited to attend the rally in the Mackinac Room of the Capitol Park Motor Hotel, Lansing.

On hand to greet the alumni and guests will be Dr. Edgar L. Harden, NMU president, Stan Albeck, basketball coach at NMU, and Tom Peters, NMU director of alumni relations.

ernors are scheduled to arrive. The diplomatic corps will follow between 5 and 6 p.m.

Cardinal Cushing, who will say the funeral Mass, is a longtime friend of the Kennedy family, gave the invocation at the President's inauguration, officiated at his marriage, baptized the two Kennedy children, and presided at the funeral Mass for Patrick Bouvier Kennedy, the first family's son who died within 40 hours after birth last August.

EVERY 20 YEARS

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy's death Friday continues the coincidence that presidents elected at 20 year intervals in zero-numbered years die in office.

The list includes: 1840—William Henry Harrison 1860—Abraham Lincoln 1880—James A. Garfield 1900—William McKinley 1920—Warren G. Harding 1940—Franklin D. Roosevelt 1960—John F. Kennedy

Roosevelt did not die in the third term to which he was elected in 1940 but during his fourth term.

Three of the previous presidents on the list were assassinated — Lincoln, Garfield and McKinley.

SHAPED U. S. POLICY

John Fitzgerald Kennedy, 35th president of the United States was deeply dedicated to social justice and to human dignity. In a world undergoing a population explosion and under the threat of Soviet Russia's determination to dominate, he shaped American policy to help solve these problems.

The most crucial moment of his administration was when it was revealed that Premier Khrushchev had created missile bases in Cuba only 90 miles from the United States. President Kennedy demanded their removal and won.

The legislative highlights of his administration included: Increase in the minimum wage from $1 an hour to $1.25. Social Security benefit increases.

Adoption of a $600 million aid program for Latin America and creation of the Alliance for Progress.

Passage of the Trade Expansion Act which gave the President powers to cut tariffs.

Tax revision to give business credits for new equipment.

Adoption of the Congressional resolution to oppose by arms, if necessary, Communist infiltration in the Western Hemisphere.

Congressional outlawing of the poll tax.

Establishment of a private corporation to develop, own and operate a communications satellite system.

President Kennedy, a multimillionaire, contributed his presidential salary of $100,000 annually to charity. He had a gross income of about $500,000 — about $100,000 after taxes — from trust fund investments. He began his contribution of his government salaries to charity in 1947 when he entered college.

Carrying war wounds from his service as a PT boat commander in the Pacific theater of World War II, he exercised to remain fit despite a back injury.

After President Franklin D. Roosevelt's "New Deal" he offered America a "New Frontier" approach to national problems. During the campaign in which he was elected over Republican Richard M. Nixon he likened the U. S. to a great ship at anchor and said it should be sailing on to "new frontiers."

Religion was an issue in his campaign for the presidency. He was the first Catholic elected to the office. But his majority in popular votes was the smallest since Democrat Grover Cleveland won by only 62,683 in 1884. Mr. Kennedy's margin was 113,057 votes.

His father, Joseph P. Kennedy, amassed a fortune that in a 1957 survey by Fortune Magazine placed in the $200 to $400 million category.

change to mourning clothes.

Walking to waiting microphones, Johnson read his statement: "This is a sad time for all people. We have suffered a loss that cannot be weighed. For me it is a deep personal tragedy.

"I will do my best. That is all I can do. I ask for your help — and God's."

Then he walked to a big, green helicopter which took off for the White House.

Landing on the White House south lawn, the new President took his wife's arm, walked slowly across the lawn and the rose garden. As he went he conferred with Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara and McGeorge Bundy, presidential assistant for national security.

Then, at the French doors to the oval office of the president, he paused a moment and walked through alone, stepping across a historic threshold to massive responsibilities.

Leaders Changed For 3 Powers

WASHINGTON (AP)—Lyndon B. Johnson's succession to the presidency brought the third change in leadership among major Western powers in a little more than a month.

On Oct. 16, aging Konrad Adenauer stepped down as chancellor of West Germany and was succeeded by Ludwig Erhard.

On Oct. 19, ailing British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan was succeeded by Sir Alec Douglas-Home.

Escanaba Will Join In Prayers

Residents of the Escanaba area will join in the prayers of a nation for President John F. Kennedy.

In all churches of Protestant denomination special prayers will be part of Sunday services, the Rev. Walfred Nelson, president of Delta County Ministerial Association, has announced. Memorial Requiem Masses will be offered Monday in many of the Catholic Churches, the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Martin B. Melican, head of the Escanaba Deanery, said today. The schedule is: St. Patrick's, 11 a. m.; St. Thomas are Apostle, 7.30 p. m.; St. Joseph's 8 a. m.; St. Anne's 6 p. m.; St. Anthony's Wells, time will be announced Sunday.

Father Thomas M. Andary of Holy Family Church, Flat Rock will celebrate the Memorial Mass on Thanksgiving Day at 8:30 a. m.

Workshop Series For Democratic Women's Club

Three additional holiday workshops have been held by the Delta County Democratic Women's Club in a series to prepare for the annual Holiday Sale to be held at Goodman's Drug Store Friday, Dec. 6.

One group met in Brampton at the home of Mrs. Irene Eagle and completed Barbie Doll clothes and fireplace matchbooks.

Three workshops were held simultaneously at the home of Mrs. Verna Murray with Helen Rouman, Marina Chapekis and Mrs. Murray, leaders, to prepare Christmas candy containers from coffee cans, napkin rings and decorated candles. The containers will be filled with cookies, candies and seasoned party mix for the sale.

The third workshop was at the home of Mrs. Rose Erlandson and members also decorated containers for holiday goodies and made Christmas tree skirts and Christmas corsages. The next workshop is planned for Democratic women in the Brampton-Gladstone area at the home of Mrs. Donna Elliott, for preparation of household linens with liquid embroidery.

Police Dog Chip Helps Wrap Up $410 Theft Case

PRUDENVILLE (AP) — A state police dog named "Chip" helped wrap up a $410 theft here Friday.

The money was reported stolen from the Lola Bell Restaurant near this hamlet on the eastern shore of Houghton Lake.

Police arrested a 15-year-old Ohio boy who admitted the theft, but said he had ditched the money and couldn't remember where. Trooper Clare Helms and "Chip" were ordered to search the area. The dog sniffed out the loot, half buried along a nearby road.

Sports Events Are Postponed

By The Associated Press

The sports world went into mourning for President Kennedy Friday by cancelling and postponing hundreds of events in every type of competition.

Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick summed up sports' reaction to the assassination of the young, sports-minded President when he said:

"We all feel a deep loss and at the same time a great sense of shame and unhappiness that this should happen in our country. We are all shocked and in sorrow."

"Shocked," was the word used by Pete Rozelle, Commissioner of the National Football League, and repeated everywhere in sports.

The Yale-Harvard game, which was to be played for the 80th time since 1875 was postponed or maybe cancelled.

In a joint statement issued at New Haven, the presidents of the two universities, Nathan M. Pusey of Harvard, and King-man Brewster Jr., of Yale said:

"Out of respect for the memory of the late President of the United States, we have decided that the athletic and social activities involving Harvard and Yale Universities which were scheduled shall not take place this weekend."

Sadness Voiced By Khrushchev

MOSCOW (AP)—Dressed in black, Premier Khrushchev drove to the U.S. Embassy today to personally convey his "deep sadness" on the assassination of President Kennedy.

The Soviet premier, accompanied by Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko, visited the embassy shortly after sending a telegram to President Johnson.

"The death of President Kennedy is a heavy blow to all people who cherish the cause of peace and Soviet - American cooperation," it said.

The telegram said the "heinous assassination of Kennedy" came at a time when there appeared signs of relaxation of international tension and a prospect has opened for improving relations between the U.S.S.R. and the United States."

Khrushchev and his wife, Nina, also sent telegrams to Mrs. Kennedy expressing their condolences at Kennedy's death.

Pastor Will Face Congregation At St. Patrick Mass

The Thanksgiving Day Mass at 9 a.m. at St. Patrick's Church will mark an innovation in the service, with the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Martin B. Melican, pastor, facing the people of the congregation.

Heretofore, the priest celebrating the Catholic Mass, has faced the altar during the greater part of worship.

The new form is being used to mark the end of the Centennial year, and is one that is being adopted more and more in churches throughout the country.

Gets Promotion

IRON RIVER — Robert R. Johnson, mine production engineer at the Homer-Wausau mine has been named district production engineer for the Michigan district of the Hanna Mining Co.

Johnson will begin his new duties Monday, according to Floyd H. Lee Michigan district general manager, who also announced a number of other personnel changes to take effect Monday.

Johnson, 37, succeeds James Clemens, who earlier this fall was named manager of the Missouri mines of the company.

Stock Exchange Closes Monday

NEW YORK (AP)—A spokesman for the New York Stock Exchange indicated today that the exchange would remain closed Monday because of the President's funeral.

He said other major exchanges would probably also remain closed.

The New York Stock Exchange presumably would reopen Tuesday, but there was no confirmation of this. Definite word on the exchange's plans was expected later today.

The American Stock Exchange halted trading shortly after, as did other markets.

Circle Planning Meeting Held At Hermansville

HERMANSVILLE — St. Margaret Circle of St. Mary's Church held its November meeting Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. Fred Gamache, with Mrs. Gamache and Mrs. Dan Bonneau as hostesses. Mrs. Karl LeMaide led the rosary which was offered for the repose of the soul of the late Father Frederick Hofmann who served St. Mary's parish at Hermansville in the early 50's.

The members decided to have a Circle Christmas party at the LeMaide home in early December, with Mrs. Ed LeMaide and Mrs. Jerry LeBlanc acting as hostesses. Gifts will be exchanged.

The Circle will also sponsor a games party for the benefit of St. Mary's Church Sunday, Jan. 26.

After the meeting the members enjoyed a social hour and lunch.

Altar Society

All members of St. Anne's Altar Society of St. Mary's Church Parish, Hermansville are urged to attend the final meeting of the year on December 3. Plans will be discussed for the Altar Society Christmas party now tentatively set for the second week in December.

Heads of the six parish circles are particularly asked to be present. It is expected that a schedule of activities for 1964 will be worked out at this time and dates assigned to the various circles. Circle heads should be prepared to pick their own type of activity and the approximate date on which it will be held.

P.T.A. Tuesday

Hermansville P.T.A. will meet Tuesday, Dec. 3 with parent - teacher conferences from 7:30 to 8 p.m. Guest speaker will be Robert Ferguson, MEA field representative, who will speak on Teachers' Tenure.

Garden Peninsula

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Derocher are in Green Bay where Mrs. Derocher is having eye surgery at St. Vincent's Hospital, where she will be a patient two weeks. Mr. Derocher is visiting at the home of their daughter, Mrs. Robert Berg, while his wife is hospitalized.
